COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE SET FOR MONDAY, OCT. 20

Arlington to Hold Open House at Dryden Place School Sunday Afternoon

An open house will be held at the new Dryden place school Sunday afternoon, 2:30 to 5:30. No formal dedication of the building will be held, but all citizens of Arlington Heights are invited to inspect the new building, which has features not found in any other local school.

This building is the result of a co-ordinated planning process involving the architects, the Board of Education, the superintendent, and many members of the teaching and administrative staff.

The objective was an economical, attractive, functional building. The building and grounds are designed to facilitate a modern, efficient education program for the 350 to 400 children from kindergarten through fifth grade who will occupy it.

This school promises to be a pleasant, healthful, efficient place in which children of these ages may live and learn.

The original bond issue for this building was $325,000. A subsequent bond issue of $30,000 was used for paving, grading, and all-weather play surfaces and for a part of the movable equipment in the building.

Visitors will note that good design, the use of a variety of materials, attractive color selections, generous use of glass, in fact, any of the features which make a modern school building attractive, do not increase the cost.

This structure is, in the words of the architects, scaled to children. From the outside, the building does not give the appearance of being a huge, monumental structure. Visitors are always surprised, upon entering the building, at its size and spaciousness. It is a homey, functional building which invites one to enter and delights him as he examines its facilities and appointments.

The building features lower ceilings, generous use of glass to "open up" the rooms to the outdoors and to the corridors, radiant heating, and "built in" storage and display spaces.

THE DRYDEN Place school is located on a five-acre plot bordered by Dryden Place and some 250 feet south of Rockwell st. The grounds are free from the hazards of heavy automobile traffic and are easily accessible to students and parents.

The building is placed on one end of the tract, so that broad areas are available to the south and west for playground purposes. This play area will lend itself to the development of baseball diamonds, general play fields, and an all-weather play area.

The kindergarten play space is found just west of the kindergarten room and is directly accessible to the kindergarten by means of the west entrance. It is designed for the exclusive use of the kindergarten children and will include developmental play apparatus placed in a tanbark surface and it also has an all-weather play surface for group games.

A paved drive, flanked by adequate parking areas, leads the motorist alongside a covered shelter across the front of the building. This allows buses and parents to deposit and pick up the children at the main entrance to the building.

It will be obvious to those who tour the school Sunday that children are not expected to spend their entire school day sitting in one chair and working with a few books. It has been discovered that children learn more and develop better physically when they have the opportunity to move about and change their activities frequently. Pupils in these classrooms may, under the direction of the teacher, use the work counters, easels, the library tables, the display cases, the chalk board, and the bulletin board, as well as their own desks in their efforts toward a productive and interesting day at school.

This issue is chock full of 'front page' news. Turn to section three for "where to vote," shopping center hearing last Monday, local taxes paid by the C&NW, the GOP rally and other interesting items.

To Lay Cornerstone For New Lutheran Home October 12

The cornerstone for the new home of the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, Arlington Heights, will be laid Sunday, October 12, at 3:30 p. m.

The new building is being erected at Oakton and Salem aves. The ceremony will be part of a special divine service, with Rev. Martin Frick of St. Andrew church, Chicago, as principal speaker. He is vice president of the board of directors of the Home. St. John's mixed choir of Mayfair Lutheran church will sing. The Home's many friends are invited to attend.

This will be a memorable event in the progress of this building project, which Lutherans of metropolitan Chicago have been planning for 15 years. The building is expected to be completed within another year. Its completion will be a valuable contribution among special projects being carried on in this area for the care and welfare of aged people.

Public Grade School Children To Have Holiday Monday

There will be no classes Monday for Arlington Heights public elementary children, except for first grade double session classes in the North school, Superintendent R. E. Clabaugh announced.

This is the first of four days during the school year which will be devoted to intensive work on the part of the local staff to planning and working together. These days are conceived for the purpose of developing more effective teaching procedures and methods by the local teachers under the direction of their own administrative staff.

"While our teachers are well-trained," Superintendent Clabaugh said, "a considerable part of our staff is new. We find these few days of intensive planning and discussion to be invaluable in developing a coordinated, 'teams' procedure."

The three other days to be devoted to this type of work are December 1, January 26, and March 23.

Parents are urged to consult their PTA Yearbook, which they will receive soon, for all vacation dates and all other days when there will be no classes.

Captains Ready; Need 200 Workers To Do Job

At further meetings of the Community Chest Board of Directors, district chairmen have been selected to head up the drive in various areas of the village.

It has been decided that the drive will climax in a single village-wide visitation on the evening of Monday, October 20. On that evening porch lights and front lights will be turned on throughout the village as a welcoming gesture toward the neighbors who conduct the house-to-house canvass.

The following district chairmen have been selected for areas indicated:

Northwest, Oscar Kurtz, 909 N. Mitchell; Barney Erickson, 435 S. Evergreen.

Northeast, Mrs. Clarence Hendrickson, 303 N. Haddow.

Sherwood, Robert Blackburn, 1004 Watling.

Eastwood, Matthew Cockrell, 905 E. Euclid.

Stonegate, Charles Stewart, 214 Stratford.

Laurinwood, Roland Franzen, 819 S. Beverley and Mrs. R. C. Jacobsen, 746 S. Beverley.

Southwest, Ed Carlisle, 1006 S. Vail, and Bruce Curry.

Scarsdale, George Hoban, 645 S. Burton; Mrs. Carl Clare, 625 Newbury.

Scarsdale Estates, Henry Hutten, 201 E. Orchard.

Business District, Nick Lattof, 32 S. Evergreen.

Chairmen for Arlington Terrace and the new North side regions are yet to be selected.

William Gerbosi, Head Chairman of the Drive, issued a call this week for neighborhood workers to carry through the drive in each area. Between 200 and 250 workers will be needed to complete the coverage of the village. Area meetings will be set up by district chairmen.

It is urged that all Arlington Heights residents who will donate their services to the drive 'phone or see Mrs. George Tuttle, who can be reached at Clearbrook 3-0362 or at Clearbrook 3-1449.

Workers will be notified by their district chairman as to the time and place of the neighborhood campaign meetings, at which time necessary materials will be issued and sectors will be assigned.

Propose New Community West Of Arlington

Advertisements have appeared in the city press and circulars are being distributed by Kimball Hill and Associates annonncing the opening of a new home building project west of Wilke road and south of Arlington race track. Prices will be $14,750 with a down payment of $1,490 and $65 a month thereafter.

It is understood that the developer has an option on the 540-acre farm of Mr. Maloney. The extent of operations to date are engineering work to determine the use of septic tanks and the receipt of initial payments for homes. The FHA has approved the plans, but it may be some time before a definite announcement can be given.

IT IS REPORTED that it is the plan to extend Campbell st. into the property. The first homes will be erected on Wilke rd. If the entire development is completed, there will be nearly 2,000 homes.

Half of the Maloney farm is in the Arlington Heights high school district. All of it is in the Palatine Community elementary school district, which school children will attend. However, the developers are dedicating land for a future school.

Kimball Hill and Associates have a development on E. Euclid, Arlington Heights, and is erecting several hundred homes southwest of Des Plaines.

Stabber Of Four At Arlington Last July Declared Insane

Nicholas Suerz, 27, who stabbed two women and two men at Arlington Heights July 16 was declared insane by a jury in Judge Marvotz court Thursday. Dr. William H. Haines, head of the court's behavior clinic, testified that Suerz was suffering from a paranoid complex.

A person who is legally insane can not be tried and witnesses subpoened, did not testify. They were Geo. Bach, stabbed in the Vail Tavern, Patricia Ricklefs, who met her assailant on Campbell st., Edward C. Bowman, of Indiana, stabbed in front of Sieburg drug store, Carl Behrens and John Skovanek, who were witnesses to the stabbing. Mrs. Jacobs was also stabbed, did not appear at the trial.

Suerz admitted the stabbing and said he got mad when he heard men laughing in the tavern. He was sent to the Illinois State hospital for the criminally insane at Menard.

In the absence of Chief Skoog, who is on vacation, Officer Johnson represented the police department.

'Shop Center Detriment To Property Values, Safety' Say Opponents

The opponents to the rezoning of the property on S. State rd., Arlington Heights, between South st. and Grove, from residential to commercial classification, were given an opportunity to be heard at the continued public hearing of the zoning board of appeals September 25. If rezoned, a shopping center is to be erected on the site by John Lindstrom, Inc.

Aribert F. Wild, attorney, who said he represented the Chamber of Commerce, as well as a group of individuals opposing the rezoning, began his case by reading a resolution from the Chamber of Commerce. It stated, in part, the Chamber opposed the erection of a shopping center and recommended a further study to convert the tract into a public park for the benefit of residents residing south of the railroad tracks. The exact content of the resolution appears elsewhere in this issue.

A report from the plan commission, addressed to the zoning board of appeals, stated the commission had adopted a resolution approving the recommendation of the town planners, Stanton and Rockwell, that "This additional area for business use is only justified as a future part of the central area and not as an individual sub-center. The shape of this area requires special attention, and its deep intrusion into a well established residential area dictates the use of at least a portion of it in the residential zone, and this is accordingly recommended."

MRS. ROBERTA Keeley, 700 Linden lane, who resides within a half block of the proposed center, told the board she was opposed because it would depreciate property values. She felt eventually, shoppers would park along side streets in Scarsdale and walk into the center, rather than get in the traffic congestion she feels will result along State rd. at the point of ingress and egress. This would create a safety hazard, she said, as there are no sidewalks in the subdivision and the children use the streets.

Mrs. Keeley further stated the exhaust from 900 autos using the parking facilities would be objectionable, as would the honking of horns that would no doubt result from so many autos. The Keeleys have lived here 16 months and Mrs. Keeley said they would not have bought any home located within a half block of a shopping center. She feels the present shopping facilities in Arlington are adequate.

Gail Blocki, 428 S. Belmont, has lived in Arlington 10 years. He lives within three blocks of the proposed site and feels such a center would bring in a lot of truck traffic delivering merchandise to the stores, which eventually would travel through the subdivision. This would create a safety hazard since there are no sidewalks.

WILLIAM S. HOUGH, 424 Banbury rd., lives within one and a half blocks of the area. He told the board he was proud of where he lived and said such a center would decidedly depreciate property values. He made a survey of the number of homes in the immediate vicinity of the proposed center, and found there were approximately 112 homes, averaging in value of $20,000 each. If the center were erected he felt each home would depreciate at least 10 per cent.

Hough also stated he would not have bought a home there if a shopping center were that close. He felt local traffic along State rd. would become annoyed by cross traffic into the center. He too, felt the increased traffic would be dangerous for children.

Mrs. Virginia Fullerton, 300 Bristol lane, whose property backs up to the proposed center, said the extra traffic would be a detriment to the safety of the children. She said she had two small children and she certainly would not take children with her to shop in the center and carry packages home, but would get in her car and do a week's shopping at one time. She felt horns and neon signs would also be objectionable, and that the present shopping facilities are sufficient.

ELMER LAURIN, 700 S. Beverley lane, who has resided in the village 27 years, feels any addition to traffic on State rd. would be a mistake. He didn't feel the center would be a detriment to his property value, since it is located seven or eight blocks away.

Joseph Miller, 402 S. Belmont, told the board he has placed his home on the market due to the proposed shopping center. His property is within 150 feet of the area. He said Bell Savings and Loan association had refused to finance a loan on his home due to the proposed improvement. He has lived in Arlington Heights seven years and on the present site two years.

John Duby, 614 Linden lane, said he bought a home in Arlington to get away from Chicago and its traffic. He feels the erection of the center would depreciate his property, which is 300 feet from the site, and would create a safety hazard if traffic were diverted into Scarsdale.

Duby told the board he thought shopping facilities here were adequate and if housewives arranged shopping hours correctly they could avoid congested hours in the loop area. The Dubys have lived here one and a half years and would not have purchased their home if a shopping center had been so near.

DR. H. PAUL Carstens, 435 S. Lincoln lane, is within four or five blocks of the site. He feels its erection would lower property values, add noise, create a traffic hazard, and the lighting of the parking area would be a disturbing factor. He said the present shopping area is adequate, though additional parking space is needed.

Thomas Ocasek, 409 Banbury rd., has lived here five years and is emphatically opposed to the location chosen for the shopping center. He feels a site located along bigger highways would be better. He stated the testimony given by the proponents regarding traffic, was erroneous in portions. Ocasek said lives of children crossing State rd. to go to Junior high would be endangered due to increased traffic from such a center.

Lawrence Dahlgren, 408 S. Bristol lane, told the board he would sell his home if the center were allowed to locate on the site, which is 200 feet from his property. He has lived in Arlington five years, at his present location two years, and is of the opinion such a center would have an adverse effect on all property immediately adjacent to it.

Dahlgren said he would like to see Arlington remain a village, and not become a city, by bringing in city-like shopping areas and factories. Such a center, he said, would also adversely effect the existing shopping area. He is also of the opinion the highest and best use of the property in question is for park purposes.

IVAN SWOPE, 326 Bristol lane, lives within 50 feet of the area, moving there a year ago. He feels such a center would create a health hazard, as it would attract bugs, rats and mice. Swope told the board he would sell if the center were permitted. He, too, felt traffic would be increased due to trucks bringing merchandise to the stores.

W. D. Starnes, 605 Burton place, said he made a sacrifice to make his home in Arlington Heights, having to travel 75 miles to and from work each day. He came here because he was told it was a wonderful place to raise children and "It was safe for them to play in the streets."

Starnes said he couldn't blame anyone for "wanting to make a fast buck, but not at my expense." He said he knew nothing about the technical or legal standpoints, but was primarily interested in the humane element.

Speaker Warns CC Guests Of The Dangers Of Too Much Government

Guests at the annual ladies' night of Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce received a lot of warnings, much advice and some criticism of the apathy of the present generation Tuesday evening from Alfred P. Haake, mayor of Park Ridge.

He claimed the old time American freedom is being replaced by government control, which of itself is being encouraged by the American people who lack the initiative of their forefathers.

It was not a political speech for those who agreed with him and Haake did not seem to care what the other fellows might think. The picture he painted was rather forboding, but the religious touch he gave at the closing probably served as a soothing elixir for his listeners.

The high school harmonettes was the other highlight of the evening. John Randag served as toastmaster.

Blood Pledges Sought For Red Cross Drive

Volunteer workers are now contacting residents of Arlington Heights and Palatine seeking pledges for the Red Cross defense blood drive. The mobile unit will be in Arlington Hts. October 27 and 28, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Mrs. A. C. Peters, chairman of the drive, is being assisted by co-chairman, Mrs. John Kent, and members of the Arlington Heights Woman's club, who are conducting a telephone campaign to secure the 600 pledges needed. Palatine residents are being contacted by Mrs. Milton J. Coey, 243 S. Plum Grove.

NEXT TO WHOLE blood, plasma is the greatest life saver for wounded men. While it doesn't do all the things whole blood does, it has certain advantages of its own. Not only can it be preserved for five years, but it does not have to be typed or matched with that of the man recieving the transfusion, and it can be easily transported to battle fronts. It needs no refrigeration and, therefore, cna be used on the spot to fight shock, which is a major cause of death in battle.

The value of a reserve supply of plasma has been proved in Korea, yet it is one vital commodity that assembly lines cannot produce and money cannot buy. Plasma, a blood derivative obtained by separating red cells from human blood, has never been synthesized. It is manufactured only in the human body.

"Every American who has given blood can and should feel he personally has contributed directly to the saving of the life of an American boy," said Gen Matthew B. Ridgway, Commander, North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Former Commander in Chief, United Nations Command.

Though the Arlington-Palatine drive was launched last week, workers have not received enough pledges to date to raise the thermometer to the first notch. Citizens are urged to pledge today and bring the thermometer over the top.

Boy Scouts Set Date For Fall Paper Drive

Boy scouts in Arlington Hts. will conduct their first fall paper drive October 25 according to the paper drive committee. Complete plans for this and all following paper drives were made and will be announced before the drive.

It had been hoped that an earlier paper drive could be arranged, but the paper salvage firm that has been working with the committee had such a full schedule that it was impossible to include an earlier drive in Arlington Heights.

District 56 Mass Meeting Friday Evening

All voters in school district 56, Arlington Heights road, are invited to attend an open meeting Friday evening when Attorney Maloney and the school directors will outline the problems that are facing the district.

An election will be held the following day when voters will have the opportunity to express their wishes in regard to an additional bond issue of $25,000, which will be needed to enlarge the addition previously planned and authorized by the $55,000 bond issue.

Homecoming Parade, Football Game, Dance This Week End

Who'll be the homecoming queen? Who'll be the king? Those are the big questions at the high school this week as homecoming excitement and activities move to their peak Friday.

That other important question, "Can we win the homecoming game against Glenbard?" is answered with a confident "yes" by most students.

GARAGES and homes throughout the school district are filled nightly by groups of students building floats for Friday's parade. Each of the 47 home rooms will enter a float, and each is hopeful of producing a prize winner.

King and queen candidates were chosen by popular vote of all seniors, and were presented to the student body Monday morning. All students cast ballots for their choice Tuesday, but the winners will not be announced until the coronation program at 1 p.m. Friday.

Candidates for queen are: Laurnell Anderson, Carol Hoffie, Carrie Kadoyama, Karen Mogren, and Pat Ryan. Candidates for king are: Bob Caliento, John Eakins, Joe Rezek, Denis Straus, and Tom Theis.

The homecoming parade will start at 1:45 p.m. Friday. Floats will line up on Ridge and Walnut avenues with the lettered homerooms first, followed by the cafeteria and gymnasium homerooms, and the numbered homerooms.

Line of march is as follows: East on Euclid to Vail, south on Vail to Sigwalt, east on Sigwalt to Evergreen, north on Evergreen to Wing, east on Wing to State, north on State to Euclid, west on Euclid to the high school.

Floats will be judged on the basis of originality, punch line, beauty, and workmanship. Winning floats will be presented between halves of the varsity game. After this presentation, the Homecoming Queen will draw the winning ticket for the A club football. The winner will receive the football used in the homecoming game.

THE HIGH SCHOOL band will march in the parade, and will perform between games and during the half time intermission. A very impressive flag raising ceremony has been planned, as well as a special presentation of the starting line-ups.

The Cross Country team will open the athletic portion of Homecoming in a match with Glenbard, beginning at 4 p.m.

Starting time of the frosh-soph football game will be 6:15 p.m., and the varsity game starts at 8 p.m.

The final round of the busy week comes Saturday, when the A club presents the Homecoming dance in the cafeteria of the high school. Bob Ragland's orchestra has been engaged and will play from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Carnivals To Be Banned In Recreation Park After Sept. 1, 1953

The president and trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights and the board of commissioners of the Arlington Heights park district have jointly considered the requests for the use of Recreation Park and Douglas ave. by various organizations for the conduct of carnivals during the 1953 season. The following is the statement of these combined boards after their deliberations:

"In granting permits for carnivals for the 1952 season, it was indicated to the various organizations that the carnivals had outgrown the facilities available in Douglas ave. and Recreation Park:—and because the series of carnivals held in 1952 have seriously curtailed the fine recreational program of the Park District, as well as causing many serious and well founded complaints from the residents of the adjacent area about noise, parking, traffic congestion, and fire hazards, it is our conclusion that after September 1953 there shall be no carnival equipment located in Recreation Park or on any of the public streets surrounding it.

Since time is short and the problem involved in the organization and operation of these projects is considerable, it is agreed that the program shall continue during the summer of 1953 as they have previously, with certain restrictions placed on the locations to be occupied by the equipment."

President & board of trustees
Village of Arlington Heights
Board of commissioners
Arlington Hts. park district

It was further suggested by each of the boards that they would be only too willing to aid the groups in a search for a suitable site for the continuance of the carnivals in 1954 and thereafter, since the civic value of the affairs is well understood.

Northfield School Celebrates Centennial With Dedication of New Building Oct. 5

The new Grove school building, district No. 27, Pfingsten rd., Northfield township, will be officially dedicated Sunday afternoon by Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools.

A boy scout troop will take part in a flag raising ceremony. The flag is being presented to the school by the American Legion. Robert Lowden, president of the school board, will formally present the new building to its principal, Mrs. Mary Abbott.

The new building, comprising four rooms, was partially occupied last May and is now in full use by grades three to eight. The kindergarten and primary grades continue to occupy the older building.

The Alumni association of the school will hold its annual reunion and observance of the centennial following the building dedication the same afternoon.

The anniversary program, in recognition of the school founding in 1852, will take place in the older school on Dundee rd., which is the site of the original school house.

A skit will be presented with Mrs. John Stryker of the alumni group and Kathy Gilmore, a sixth grade pupil taking the roles. The program has been arranged by a committee which includes Mrs. Thelma Thoma, representing the school board; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edgren, Mrs. Charlotte Schulz, Mrs. John Ploehn, Mrs. Doris Bennedict and Mrs. Alfred Schwab, representing the PTA; Mrs. Beatrice Lumbard, chairman, Miss Flossie Plagge, Mrs. Mary Mentzer and Mrs. Alfred Schwab, representing the alumni.

The early history of the school, compiled by Mrs. Schwab, is as follows:

HICKORY GROVE was a natural grove on an Indian trail that led in the 1840's from what is now Thorngate Country club to the junction at Milwaukee ave. and Waukegan rd., near the cabin of Levi Kennicott, an early settler of Northfield township.

Mr. Kennicott conveyed a portion of his 80-acre tract to the school directors November 20, 1852, for the building of the first school, Grove school, then called District No. 3, on Dundee rd. between Pfingsten and Sanders rds. The directors were Levi Kennicott, Philip Ott and Isaac Hoffert. The first teacher was Miss Anderson who taught four months in the winter. She received $80 for the four months and Mr. Kennicott $6 for "boarding the teacher."

Minutes, dated 1855, tell of a census of 167 children under 21 years of age. Also on this date the following motion appeared: "Every inhabitant sending children to school shall on notice bring for each child that he sends, one cord of wood. If not, he shall pay to the directors one dollar for each cord, for that purpose to buy firewood."

Expenses included a water bucket, dipper, fence posts, rails, bar of soap, nails, and the cleaning of the schoolhouse.

There were four months of school until 1887, when the voters agreed on an eight months term, and in 1889 to a nine months term.

In 1858, 400 ft. of lumber was brought from Chicago for new desks. These were handmade by a Mr. Conrad Schulz.

The first levy in 1854 was $132.11 and shows a balance of $2.01 after all expenses.

The first attendance record of 1860 shows 53 pupils which in 1863 had risen to 85 pupils.

May 29, 1886, a new school was authorized by a vote of 30 to 20. The directors were authorized to build a frame building with a brick foundation, to borrow money for same, and to levy two per cent annually until said debts were paid.

This money was loaned by individuals who received six per cent interest. An additional one eighth of an acre land was purchased from George Weber in April of 1886 for $18.75. John Stryker, Otto Freese and Lorenz Koebelin were directors at this time.

In 1889 a row of maple trees were planted on the west, east and south sides of the school. Many of these are still standing.

The health of the pupils was noted as a record of January, 1884, tells of 59 pupils being successfully vaccinated. In 1901 the district changed from Northfield township No. 3 to the present Cook county No. 27.

In 1930 a strip of land was purchased north of the school figured at $1500 an acre.

On January 30, 1931, the voters approved the building of a two-room school. It was decided to move the existing one-room back on the property and add a new room.

The new Grove school was completed in 1951 on Pfingsten which will be dedicated October

The present board consists of L. Louden, Mrs. Thelma Thoma, Clerk, and S. Butow.

Arnold Huber, father of Mrs. L. Andersen of Arlington Heights is the oldest living director having served from 1915 to 1920.

The Alumni association held its first reunion in 1948 and has held them yearly ever since. Chairman is Mrs. Beatrice Bach Lumbard of Aurora.

Four Children Baptized In Special Services

The twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Brockmann, Wilke rd., Palatine, were christened September 21 at St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, by Rev. Luther V. Stephan.

Sponsors for Donald William were his aunt, Mrs. Orland Brockmann and his uncle, Donald Guenther. Ronald Arthur had Mrs. Kermit Hintz and his uncle, Robert Guenther, as his sponsors.

The occasion was celebrated with a dinner at which the sponsors and the babies' grandparents were guests.

Mary Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kranz, 405 W. Mueller, Arlington Hts., was christened at St. Peter church Sunday, with Rev. Stephan officiating.

Sponsors were Leonard Kranz, Mrs. Ralph Meyer and Mrs. Walter Landmeier. The baby was gowned in the same dress her father wore when he was baptized. A supper was served to relatives and friends following the service.

First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights, was the scene of a double baptism Sunday when the children of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Tellier, 826 S. Vail, were christened by Rev. C. Victor Brown. They were baptized Stephen Howard and Marna Marie.

Attends Workshop

Mary Handlin, head of the home economics department at Arlington Heights high school, attended an electrical cooking workshop at the Commonwealth Edison Building in Chicago Monday night.

One of the chief points of interest of the program, from Miss Handlin's point of view, was the discussion of details of the high school cooking contest which the Electric Cooking Institute will conduct later in the year. Miss Handlin hopes that some of her students will be interested in competing in this contest.

The workshop was conducted by Jane Foster, director of the Electric Cooking Institute, for home economics teachers of the Chicago area.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that we announce the arrival just this week of a new set of encyclopedia "Lands and Peoples," published by the Grolier Society in 1951. Up-to-date and beautifully illustrated in color, these seven volumes will be of untold value to youth and adult for school reference work and general information.

The following titles will give everyone an idea of just what this set covers: The United States and Canada; Latin America and General Articles; Africa, Australia and Southern Islands; Southern Asia and the Far East; the Near and the Middle East; Baltic States and Central Europe, and British Isles and Western Europe. Whether for school or pleasure, plan now to spend an interesting afternoon or evening at your local library and learn about people and places around the world.

Two new biographies, "Proust, Portrait of A Genius," by Andre Maurois and "Boswell in Holland" by Frederick A. Pottle, together with "A Treasury of Intimate Biographies" by Louis L. Snyder have just been received. The latter contains dramatic stories from the lives of great men by those who knew them well. It will be of special interest to the students having to write short biographies for class work.

"Money from Ideas," M. Penn Laughlin. Step by step, "Money from Ideas" shows you with practical examples how an idea can be turned into a profitable patent . . . what to do during the experimental stage . . . how to obtain help in making working models . . . how to apply for a patent . . . how to prepare a drawing of your invention . . . what to do if the patent examiner turns you down . . . how to get your invention manufactured after the patent is granted . . . how to protect it from infringements, and hundreds of other tips. The author shows you how to master the intricacies of filing procedure with the United States Patent Office, and how to get the most out of the help and protection the government stands ready to give the inventor!

"Elizabeth Barrett Browning," by Dorothy Hewlett. The author tells the full story of Elizabeth's life, both before and after she became Mrs. Browning. While presenting the life-giving details, she never forgets that, however interesting the individual, Elizabeth survives because of her talent and art. This is a colorful critical biography. Born in the reign of George III, Elizabeth Barrett lived to become one of the outstanding women of Victorian England. The story of her career, both as straight biography and as drama and semi-fiction is told comprehensively for the first time.

By exploring original sources: the literature of the period, records, contemporary accounts, ballads, etc., Carroll Camden, in her new book "The Elizabethan Woman" assures the reader of an accurate portrayal of woman in the Elizabethan era. A "new" woman was emerging. She was the product of the Reformation. And it is at this creature, who for centuries had been regarded as little more than another item of property, that the Elizabethan Woman takes a long, fascinating and often amusing look.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Tuesday was an especially significant date for many Protestant Christians in the United States, for it was the official publication date of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, first completely new major translation since the King James Version.

Church groups made the occasion one for special services of observance. Locally, the Presbyterian church was host to Dr. Floyd Filson, noted Bible scholar, at a program to which the community was invited. Dr. Filson discussed the history of the RSV, telling of the men of various denominational beliefs who have devoted many years to this new translation.

Other nearby churches celebrated the occasion with special services, too. The Prospect Heights Community church joined with the First Congregational church of Des Plaines, and the Community Presbyterian church of Wheeling held a joint service with the North Northfield Community church.

Churchmen say that the Revised Standard Version will not replace the King James Version of the Bible, for the latter is more poetic, such being the nature of the language in 1611. However, the new translation is much clearer and more understandable. The words are up-to-date, clear and concise, understandable to readers of all ages.

Luncheon Is Served

The building fund of the First Presbyterian church will benefit Friday from a luncheon and book review program in the church dining room. So popular was the program that as soon as it was announced, the 125 tickets were spoken for. The firm presenting the luncheon was persuaded to raise the number to 200 to help accommodate all who wanted to come.

Mrs. C. Victor Brown, wife of the minister of the church, will review "The Silver Chalice," a novel dealing with the early Christian church and telling of the cup used at the Last Supper. Thomas Costain, author of "The Black Rose," is the writer of the book. Mrs. Brown is a frequent and popular reviewer in the Arlington area.

The luncheon will be prepared and served under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Montgomery, a home economist. It is called "Luncheon Is Served," and is sponsored by several food firms. Mrs. Montgomery will also speak following the luncheon.

100 Club

Members of the 100 dance club and their guests pronounced their first dance, held Saturday night at Itasca Golf club, a definite success. This was one of three dances to be given during the 1952-53 season.

The next dance will be December 13 at Mount Prospect Country club, and the final dance of the season will be the first Saturday in April, 1953.

Officers of the club are Mrs. James T. Lambdin, president; Mrs. Quentin Lambert, vice-president; Mrs. Edward Bastedo, secretary, and Mrs. Howard Schram, treasurer.

Membership in the group is necessarily limited to 100 couples because of th sizes of the ballrooms in clubs where dances may be held.

Study Group To Hear Unusual Approach To Musical Understanding

Members of the Arlington Heights Woman's club will have an opportunity to hear some revolutionary ideas regarding methods of teaching and understanding music when the club's music study group meets Wednesday at 1:30 p. m.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Rowland Laughlin, 635 S. Pine ave. Cohostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Fredrick C. Schmoyer and Mrs. Joe Grant.

The chairman of the study group, Mrs. Gale Blocki Jr., will introduce the featured guest, Mrs. Donald Nelson Hanson. Mrs. Hanson is widely known for her unusual approach and interpretation of the study of music. She uses attractive colored charts to illustrate her theory that music is a language in the full sense of the word. Since language is organized sound, it can be likened to the organized sound in music. Just as words and sentences and paragraphs go to make up our language, so notes and measures and passages give meaning and value to music. In this way, Mrs. Hanson has succeeded in simplifying the understanding of music and she believes that everyone can be musical by learning to hear it properly.

Mrs. Hanson has an impressive background, having received her degree in music from the Mary Wood Chase School in Chicago, where she taught for more than 12 years. She was also on the faculty of the Columbia School of Music in Chicago for 12 years under Claire Osborn Reed. After 25 years' connection with these two schools she opened a private studio in the Fine Arts building, and is now teaching piano and harmony in her own home in Chicago.

Here's a really good idea . . . you know it's not too early to start thinking about Christmas gifts, especially those gifts for special people. So often when the time actually comes we would like to get the man in our lives or our parents something a little special, but the money just isn't there. You can avoid that by using the layaway plan at Flaherty Jewelers now. By selecting that watch, ring or whatever you have in mind now, paying a small deposit plus a small weekly payment, that gift will be all paid for by Christmas and you won't even have noticed paying for it. Save a dollar a week from your grocery money, and those who are working can easily part with a dollar each week. This is really the painless way to purchase an expensive item, but don't delay. The sooner you start the easier it will be.

Perhaps you've seen those big lovely dolls or perhaps your daughter has already told you that Pearce's at the corner of Bothwell and Chicago aves. in Palatine have the prettiest dolls in their window. One is a Mary Hartline doll and the other is a party doll. Before Christmas Pearce's take orders on these unusual dolls that can wear a size 1 in actual baby clothes. These dolls, that also come in two more styles—one, another party doll, and the other a pigtail doll—will walk along with you, and you can wash and comb their hair. Get your order in early.

Children's sleep wear seems to be a specialty at Pearce's for they have the cutest pajamas and gowns priced from $1.69 to $3.95. The sleepers by Carter come in one or two pieces. They also have slipper sox for children and women. They've always been a favorite of mine during the cold winter months.

Delft ware, imported from Holland, is one of the newest additions at Aunt Pansy's. This attractive china features a blue design on the many pieces, including tiles, candlesticks, etc. The ash tray has two little shoes for you to snuff out your cigarettes.

They have also received their complete line of greeting cards, and they're really clever, especially those for your sick friends . . . they just won't be able to help feeling better after reading one of these cards.

Webber Paint Co. now has what they consider the best paint for concrete and masonry surfaces on the market today. It's Zynolyte California Patio Finish. This rubber base paint provides a glossy, tough, flexible coating that bounces off wear . . . is unaffected by alkali in cement . . . stands repeated washing . . . resists acids, scalding liquids and severe exposure to weather. Zynolyte may be applied to any concrete or masonry surface—indoors or outdoors—wherever a rich, lustrous, long-wearing film is desired. This material will last four to six times as long as a conventional floor paint because of its remarkable resistance to alkali, moisture and weather. It even dries in three to four hours to a hard, lustrous, mar-resistant finish. All colors are rich and non-fading, and will retain their freshness and beauty.

Zynolyte California Patio finish may be brushed or sprayed and is ready for brushing as it comes in the can. One gallon covers 500 to 600 square feet. Perfect for the basement rec. room.

The children's section at the Bounty Fair on Northwest hwy. in Palatine has the cutest toys and games for children of all ages. For the very young there are cuddly fur animals, rattles, booties, Little Goody toy shoes, baby books, and a very practical colorful oilcloth doll with a rattlehead. I found a darling teddy bear who, when squeezed, plays music. There's even a gymnasium set for a child to play as he grows. Hot water bottles and blanket clasps are also among the lovely gifts for babies. For the older children there is a complete selection of party games priced just right for a child to give as birthday presents.

Friday, The 13th, Not So Unlucky For Autoists

Afraid to start a trip on Friday the 13th?

Actually, says the national safety council, fewer people are killed or injured in traffic accidents on Friday the 13th than on Saturday the 14th — for the simple reason that there is more traffic on Saturday than on Friday.

Twenty-one per cent of the 32,500 fatal motor vehicle accidents last year occurred on Saturdays.

Sunday was second highest, with 19 per cent of the fatal accidents. Then came Friday with 14 per cent.

DRYDEN PLACE SCHOOL IS FULL OF SURPRISES FOR OPEN HOUSE VISITORS SUNDAY

ENTRANCE LOBBY to the new Dryden Place school is one of the finest features of the building. One of the features of the lobby that will call forth the ohs and ahs of the visitors is the view thru glass doors of the playground. That view practically brings the outdoors right into the school itself. There will be no feeling of confinement as the children enter the building and from this lobby, which is the focal point of the building, one may proceed to the various centers of activity which are grouped around it.

This grouping finds the offices and classroom wing to the left, the exit to the playground directly ahead, and the library, kindergarten, and multi-purpose room to the right.

The lobby is well lighted and has a wide cork board area upon which children will enjoy displaying their classroom work. It is quite likely that this pleasant area will also be utilized for meetings of groups of students or for parent meetings.

AT THE IMMEDIATE right is the library which was not planned as a reading room, but rather as a place for the collection and distribution of books and of all sorts of other teaching aids. Children and teachers may come to the library to find books and then to return with them to their classroom, where the classroom teacher will direct their use. Projectors, radios, phonographs and recording machines, as well as other teaching aids, will be stored and issued from this room.

THE MULTIPURPOSE room at the right of this entrance is planned with many things in mind. Children will use it as a playroom. The stage and adjoining rooms will be a dramatics center. Student assemblies will be held here. It will serve as the lunchroom. It is the only room in the building equipped to be darkened, so films and film stripes will be shown here. Teachers will meet here.

It is a place where community groups may meet in the evening. A small kitchen is located just across the hall, that light refreshments can be served.

Additional pictures and description of building will appear in next week's Herald.

At Orchestra Hall

Rafael Kubelik has programmed two works familiar to the repertoire, and a first performance of a new work by Arthur Honegger, for the mid-week concerts of the Chicago symphony orchestra Thursday evening, October 9, and Friday afternoon, October 10, at Orchestra Hall.

The new work, Symphony No. 5, was completed by Honegger in Paris in December of 1950 and had its first performance by the Boston symphony orchestra in March, 1951.

Kubelik will also conduct the second of the season's popular concerts Saturday evening, October 11, when the soloist will be Ruth Tengwall, youthful Chicago violinist who was soloist at a young people's concert in 1946.

A new series of film and lecture travelogues will be presented by George A. Kuyper at Orchestra Hall on five Monday evenings beginning October 27. The celebrity globe-trotter series will all be color films and each of the narrators are prominent men in the travel field, as well as lecturers of note.

Five Injured In Accidents This Week

Five persons, two of them pedestrians, were injured in four automobile accidents this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Suto, 62 and 60 years old respectively, route 1, Mount Prospect, were injured Sunday afternoon in an automobile accident at River and Central rds. They were taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, for treatment.

Suto told county police that he was going south on River rd. and started to turn left when he got to Central but had to stop because cars were stopped in the outer lane of traffic going north. He claimed he was stopped and waiting for traffic to move when struck by a car going north in the inner lane.

Robert Gaulke, 22, route 1, Des Plaines, driver of the car that struck Suto, told police that he was going north on Rand rd. and at the intersection of Rand and Central rd. a car going south made a left turn in front of him. The turn, he said, was so sudden that he did not have time to apply his brakes. He later told police he was driving behind traffic in the outer lane and swung into the inner lane just before the intersection.

Edward Runningwolf, 60, Chicago, and Mary Lou Murray, 16, Chicago, were the pedestrians injured.

Runningwolf was injured September 24 at 8:30 p. m. at rte. 42A, south of Willow rd. He claimed he was walking south on 42A on the shoulder of the road when struck by the car driven by Irvin Possiller, 38, 429 Washington st., Glenview.

Possiller said he was going south on 42A after making a right turn from Willow rd. He tried to avoid striking Runningwolf, but did not see him in time.

Miss Murray was injured Friday evening at rte. 21 and Hintz rd. as she was crossing 21. Louis Mildahl, 42, Ingleside, driver of the car that hit Miss Murray, said that he was driving north on 21 when he saw two girls in the middle of the road. One started to continue crossing to the west side; the other girl followed, but then apparently became confused and started running back Mildahl said he couldn't avoid hitting her.

Anthony M. Burke, 52, 1209 N. Elliott, Park Ridge, was injured Thursday evening as he was going west on Ballard rd. A car traveling on Grove st. turned onto Ballard at a fast rate of speed and headed for the Burke car. In order to avoid a head-on collision, Burke turned and went into a ditch. The driver of the second car is unknown.

Nine other week-end automobile accidents involved property damage only.

Spray Scale Pests On Their Way To Winter Nooks

Some types of scale insects are now on the move looking for winter homes. In the migratory stage after feasting on plant juices of leaves and twigs, they are set to crawl to tree and shrub crevices for over-wintering.

And this year, they're more abundant than normally. according to F. R. Lancaster, technical adivser of the Davey Tree Expert Co. He attributes the teeming populations to the possibility that not so many as usual were killed off last winter.

The entomologist advises a nicotine contact spray to deplete the scale insect legions when they're most vulnerable. This is particularly important if the home owner has missed one of the normal sprays earlier this season . . . namely either the dormant or early crawler sprays.

Among the major scale pests susceptible to the nicotine applications during the fall season are the Lecanium, particularly severe in the South; cottony and woolly maple scale, widespread over the United States and particularly destructive to northern trees and shrubs, camellia, beech, camphor and oleander scale. Even if you did apply dormant oil before the growing season, chances are your landscape will be improved with the late saeson spray.

Rarely is 100 per cent kill accomplished in the early spring. That is because the kind of oil that will destroy all the insects will also kill tree or shrub.

Scout Leaders Participate In Skills Meeting At Deer Grove

Three hundred scout leaders gathered at the pavilion in Deer Grove, September 13, to participate in Cub, Boy Scout and Explorer skills, under the supervision of the commissioner staff.

The morning program consisted of three trails of skills, one trail for each of the three phases of the scout program.

A BARBECUE LUNCH was served. In the afternoon the council program for the coming year was outlined. Four training week ends will be included in the program. Beginning October 25 and lasting through November 2 the scouts will aid in the "get out the vote" campaign by hanging attractive door knob reminders on every door knob of every home in the area. This is a nation-wide project being conducted by Boy Scouts all over the United States.

Other plans for the year include: Explorer Scout ball, December 26; annual council meeting, January 11; Explorer winter camp, January 16-18; scout week activities, February 6-13: Explorer advisor night, March 6; council first aid meet, April 23; Camp Napowan opening, June 27; national jamboree, July 17-23; and Philmont expedition, August 1.

One of the featured highlights at the skills meet was a series of cooking demonstrations conducted by eight Explorer Scouts, who recently attended a national training course at the Schiff Scout Reservation in New Jersey. Various demonstrations included: cooking an egg on a spit, complete meal in aluminum foil, Dutch oven baking, Shishkabob, aluminum foil baking, and cooking a meal without utensils. These scouts will conduct a training course for all junior leaders of the council November 1 and 2 at Camp Baden Powell.

ONE OF THE MOST complete exhibits on Indian lore and Indian handicraft seen in these parts was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Skokie and Mr. and Mrs. Lemke of Des Plaines.

The following men assisted in the program: Bill Freer, Dick Bradford, George Moudry, Gerald Knitter, Jim Seiler, Joe McLoughlin, Harry Blazeck, Ed Emery, Ken Marble and Les McAuliffe. Also assisting were Scouts Tom Bowersox and John McClaughry. (B4

40-Year Old Electric Light Bulb Only Relic Found In Old Depot

When Paddock Publications asked the wreckers of the Arlington Heights depot to look for relics, it did not know that the only memento of olden days would be an electric light bulb.

The bulb, through the Public Service Co., was sent to the General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Their report follows:

"This General Electric national mazda light bulb was manufactured April, 1912, about the time that drawn tungsten filament light bulbs were commercially introduced. This vacuum type bulb blackened considerably compared to the modern 60 watt bulb which maintains 95 per cent of its initial efficiency to the time of burn out. This old clear bulb had a light output of 525 lumens and the retail price was 75 cents. Today's modern 60 watt bulb has no fragile tip on the end to break off, gives more than 60 per cent more light and is much less glaring because of its inside frosted finish. Retail price is 14 cents plus federal excise tax.

"Fortunately, practically all of these old clear bulbs with the long straight filaments have long since burned out. Not only are they too inefficient to be used, but in some instances they have been found to produce severe interference to a television picture. Modern filament bulbs do not cause television interference."

Pressure Groups A Threat To Tax Reform If Amendment Carries

Charles W. Clabaugh, cousin of Supt. R. E. Clabaugh, of the Arlington Heights public schools may have been speaking out of turn Monday morning, but he was brave enough to give his honest opinion to an inquiry of the editor, he said, "I voted for the proposed constitutional amendment, but I have changed my mind and will cast my vote against it November 4."

In company with his cousin, he chanced to visit the publication office. He has been a member of the state legislature many terms from the Champaign district. He was in Chicago to attend a hearing as chairman of the School Problems commission of Illinois.

The inquiry of the editor was, "Can the voters of Illinois trust the members of the state legislature with the blank check that will be given to them if the constitutional amendment is carried?" He said that in his opinion, the amount of pressure that would be placed upon its members by various groups would be tremendous.

Peruvian Teacher Visits Arlington High School

"The friendly relationship between your students and teachers is wonderful. I would like to see it duplicated in my country."

This was the reply of Miss Brunilda Fernandez, of the Department of Education of Peru, to the question: What impressed you most about the schools of the United States?

Miss Fernandez has spent a month visiting the schools of the Chicago area and lower Michigan. Last Friday, she spent the day at the Arlington Heights township high school, inspecting the building, visiting classes, and talking with students and faculty.

Miss Fernandez attended teachers' college, at Columbia university last year, and received a master's degree in secondary school administration. Upon completion of her present tour she will return to her duties in Lima, Peru.

Peruvian schools are all under a national department of education, headed by the minister of education.

Breakfast is Healthful, But . . .

Chicago, Ill. . . . In this election year, a question of vital inconsequence to every intelligent person with a stomach is sweeping through the country like an old fashioned street cleaner. This burning issue was drawn to my attention the other morning when I boarded the 8:02, Chicago and North Western Railroad commuters' delight, and ran into my old friend, Walt Slater.

"Ha!" said old friend Walt, sourly. "The drone that spinneth but toils not. What are you doing in Chicago on this huffing serpentine with us wage slaves?"

"Having lunch downtown with my ten percenter," said I, thereupon he went back to his paper, and I opened mine.

"My gosh," Walt groaned, after a silence. "Here's another of those articles on eating breakfast." He scanned the item rapidly. "Why do I read these things? Listen to this: 'Most healthful meal of the day. Stoke up at breakfast, do twice the work, and feel twice as good physically.' According to this guy everyone should have two glasses of water, fruit juice, cereal, toast, two eggs and ham or bacon and coffee." He shuddered. "I can't look at food in the morning. Feel kind of nauseated just thinking about it. Coffee's all I can stand." He lapsed into morose silence, and we coasted into another station.

Walt, a sardonic, lanky individual, does not effervesce before 9:30 a.m., at which time he has another cup of coffee and a roll, and becomes human. Thus, it was with some aversion that he eyed a newcomer we both knew as one of those hearty, hail fellow well met, grown up Rover boys. A large, ruddy, athletic type, prone to stand before an open window on a frosty morning, meatily smacking his chest, bellowing about the wonderful day.

He seated himself opposite us, loudly cheerful and glowing with health. Walt buried himself in his paper.

"Man," our new seatmate said, inhaling a couple of cubic rods of cinder-filled air. "What a day! Nothing like a little exercise and a big, country-style breakfast to start off right." Walt paled and slumped lower behind his paper.

"Yes, sir," he boomed on jovially. "Two sets of tennis this morning, a good cold shower, then breakfast. Boy, there's nothing like steak, fried potatoes and biscuits, with a couple of eggs on the side, eh Walt?" He slapped Walt playfully on the knee and laughed heartily. "Maybe I'll add a stack of flapjacks and sausage when we get downtown. I'm still kind of hungry. You look peaked, Walt. Join me, boy. Put some meat on you."

Walt, mold-green and not sprightly, looked at our boisterous acquaintance with the expression of a man who has just discovered half a fat worm in the core of his apple. Coldly dignified, he rose.

"Uk," he said distinctly. "Uk." And gagging slightly, left the car.

Breakfast just ain't for everybody.

Hartmanns Wed 65 Years Sunday; Plan Open House

MR. AND MRS. PETER HARTMANN

Folkman photo

The sixty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hartmann, 521 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, will be observed Sunday, October 5, when an open house will be held at their home from 3 to 5 p.m. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

AMONG THE GUESTS will be their nine children, William, Des Plaines; Henry, Park Ridge; Herbert, Cincinnati, O.; Wilbert, Arlington Heights; Lillie (Mrs. H. E. Brauer, Summitt); Lora (Mrs. Paul Deinline, Lake Zurich); Martha (Mrs. Ed Tonch, Rogers Park); Erna Hartmann, who resides with her parents, and Norma (Mrs. Frank Saverthal, Palatine). Their 16 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren will also be present for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartmann were both born in Germany but did not meet until they came to this country. While still in Germany, at the age of 14, Mr. Hartmann learned the art of boot making, serving an apprenticeship for more than three years. In June 1881 he sailed for America, arriving in New York two weeks later.

Upon his arrival here he looked for work in his trade, but since no job could be found, his uncle came to his rescue and found him a position as a farm hand in Tinley Park. This, however, did not satisfy Mr. Hartmann, who desired to make shoes and boots. So he left the farm and in 1882 he got a job with Mr. Sheir in Tinley Park, which launched him in his profession of boot making.

THE FOLLOWING year he went to Palatine, working in Mr. Grebe's shoe store for four years. His next job was in Arlington Heights, where he worked in Mr. Bolte's shoe store for a year and a half.

About this time he met his wife-to-be, who was employed as a cook and maid in the old Madison House, which stood at Dunton and Campbell aves., Arlington Heights, where Krause and Kehe's real estate office is now located. Mr. Hartmann roomed and boarded here and it wasn't long before they became better acquainted and made wedding plans.

They were married October 5, 1887. In those days newlyweds did not take a honeymoon, instead, the Hartmanns decided to take their meager earnings and embark in a business of their own. The following day, October 6, Mr. Hartmann began looking for a suitable location for his business.

By October 10, with the help of Mr. Hamstead, he opened Hartmann's Shoe Store, at 208 N. Dunton ave. The present store, though now a modern new building, still stands on the site, and is operated by their son, Wilbert, who purchased the business from his father 15 years ago.

The Hartmann's had 14 children, but five of them have died.

To Study Bible In Special Classes At Presbyterian Church

Beginning October 8 at 8 o'clock, the First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights, will have a series of four Wednesday evening meetings for the purpose of learning more about the Bible.

Dr. Vartan D. Melconian, director of field work and professor of New Testament at McCormick Seminary, Chicago, will be the speaker in this "Know Your Bible" series.

These discussions are particularly pertinent at this time when the Revised Standard Version of the Bible is published. Christians are re-awakened to the importance of Bible reading and there is a growing interest in acquiring a working knowledge of the Bible. These meetings with Mr. Melconian will give adults a deeper insight into and appreciation of the Book that remains the world's "best seller."

Dr. Melconian will give help on questions concerning how the Bible should be read, why and how it was written, and how it applies to us today. The public is invited to attend these meetings.

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

A dessert which was frequently served in the White House during President Tyler's administration is one of the recipes featured today.

This, as well as many other unusual recipes, was collected by Mrs. J. M. Segal while the Segals lived in Kentucky. They moved back to Chicago ten years ago, and have lived in their home at 518 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights, a little more than two years.

President Tyler's Puddin' Pie is a rich dessert, as the pudding, or filling, for this pie is made of butter, cream, eggs and brown and white sugar. It is flavored with vanilla and nutmeg.

Delicious as well as unique, this dessert is certain to be a conversation piece at any dinner party.

A recipe for Hush Puppies was another which Mrs. Segal added to her collection while in Kentucky. Hush Puppies are an excellent accompaniment for fried fish or seafood dinners.

They are made by combining corn meal, milk, salt, baking powder and finely chopped onion. The Hush Puppies are fried in deep fat, resemble a small, round doughnut, and are very flavorful. They are easy to make, and the perfect substitute for bread when served with a fish dinner.

President Tyler's Puddin' Pie

¾ cup white sugar
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup butter
½ cup cream
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teapsoon nutmeg

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, cream, vanilla and nutmeg.

Prepare a pastry shell and bake it 10 minutes. Remove from oven and pour the pudding into the pie shell. Return the pie to the oven and bake at 350 degrees until the pie is set but still shaky in the middle.

If cooked too long the filling will be granular or candied. It should be like a properly baked firm or transparent jelly.

This recipe is enough for a 9-inch pie shell or will make 12 dessert-size individual pies. The individual pies should be baked 15 minutes.

Hush Puppies

2 cups corn meal
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 onion, finely chopped

Mix ingredients, shape into small, round balls and fry in deep fat until brown. Serve with fried fish or seafood and coffee.

Presbyterian Women Plan Benefit

Mrs. James Moore, stewardship chairman of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights, is planning the benefit luncheon and book review to be held Friday at 1 p.m. in the dining room of the church. She is being assisted by the stewardship chairmen of the seven circles of the association.

Mrs. Moore, her husband and three sons moved to this community from Chicago Heights in the fall of 1949 and joined the local church in March 1950. Since that time Mrs. Moore has been secretary and later treasurer of the Berean (adult) Bible class, treasurer of circle 1 of the Women's Association, and active in other church activities.

She was elected to serve on the board of the women's association as stewardship chairman in November 1951 and will continue in this capacity until December 1953. At the present time she is also a teacher in the primary department of the church school. Mrs. Moore lives at 713 N. Evergreen.

"Luncheon is Served," a three-course meal sponsored by several Chicago food firms, is presented by Mrs. Gladys Montgomery, home economist of Evanston. Proceeds of the luncheon and book review will be given to the trustees of the church and will be used toward the erection of the new sanctuary.

Following the luncheon Mrs. Victor Brown will review the novel, "The Silver Chalice" by Thomas Costain. The novel is fiction concerning the early Christian church, with the plot woven about the cup used at the last supper.

Although luncheon reservations are closed, Mrs. Moore has said that anyone wishing to hear the book review may still purchase tickets at half price. Such tickets may be purchased at the church office as late as Friday noon or at the door at 2:15 p.m.

Nursery will be held at the church during the afternoon for all children not in school.

The SPEBSQSA singers come from Arlington, Palatine, Barrington, Mount Prospect, Buffalo Grove and Cumberland, and at full chapter strength number 40 men.

Presenting The Younger Generation

Great Grandson

Great grandson, grandson, and baby are the titles of this wee seven and one-half month old cherub. He is Rickie Gaare, blond and blue-eyed son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gaare of 58 S. Bothwell, Palatine.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gieseke of Arlington Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gaare of Palatine are the grandparents. Mrs. Carl Larsen of Palatine is Rickie's great grandmother.

Already able to stand and walk around his play pen, Rickie is learning rapidly. He loves to watch his brother, Craig, who is 5½ years old. At the present time the Gaares have a little dog that Rickie loves to trail.

Baby's playmate

Pictured next, wearing a bright smile, is Keith Brauer, 4½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn A. Brauer of 111 W. Washington, Palatine.

This red-haired, blue-eyed boy is a package of action all the time. Just now his new two-wheeler bicycle gets a real work-out. He is also in the beginners' class of the Immanuel Lutheran Sunday school.

"Keith loves to play with his baby sister," stated Mrs. Brauer; "in fact he even climbs in the playpen to play with her." And next in line is sister, Judith.

Cute stage

Baby Judy is now entering the "cute stage" declared her mother. She is seven months old and also has red hair and blue eyes. Judy crawls and just learned to pull herself up to a standing position.

"Plenty of hard work, with the survivors in the starting lineup." Thus spoke Coach "Bus" Ormsbee as he told Monday of Arlington's work program in getting ready for the homecoming tussle Friday night under the lights against Glenbard.

Cross-country meet Friday afternoon at 4:00 will start the athletic part of the celebration with the frosh-soph encounter at 6:15 and the varsity contest at 8:00, interspersed with band entertainment certain to give local fans a full evening's show.

THE GRIDDERS came through the LaGrange game unscathed but showed need of plenty of additional work. If the local squad is to reach its goal of bettering its West Suburban conference record of last year, now is the time to start.

Plenty of stress is being put on the fundamentals of blocking and tackling this week with assistant coaches Gene Mudge and Bill Beckman vociferously keeping the boys stepping.

Joe Rezek and Tom Theis have been improving since incurring injuries in the Marmion game and are certain to start for the Cardinal and White.

OTHER POSITIONS are in doubt. The coaching staff still hasn't made up its mind regarding the halfback spots, and this week is listing both Werner and Eakins as starting at left, and Thomas and Hoth at right.

At the ends, too, there is considerable doubt as to just who is first string. The boys haven't been moving fast enough to satisfy the mentors.

IN THE FROSH-SOPH encounter Coach John Ligon's squad will be out for victory after suffering two defeats at the hands of Marmion and LaGrange. Both games were close, though, and could have been scoreless affairs except for a couple of miscues. The young Bards beat York Saturday, 6-0.

In other games around the West Suburban conference, all Saturday, Downers Grove is at Hinsdale, Riverside - Brookfield travels to LaGrange, and Maine should best host York.

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

THE NORTHWEST CONFERENCE moves into the third week of league play with co-favorites Palatine and Wauconda boasting 2-0 records. We stated a couple of weeks ago we thought if Palatine got by Bensenville and Antioch they might win them all.

They did just that, but the prospect of an undefeated season appears much more remote than at that time, even though Palatine was 100% improved in the first half of their Antioch game.

The reason is other teams are looking much stronger and Palatine is being handicapped by injuries to key performers.

ELA-VERNON, whom the Pirates meet this week, has a 1-0 record with a 12-7 victory over Grant, who beat Bensenville, 35-14. Inasmuch as Palatine beat the Bisons by only 14-13, comparative scores would give Ela a four-touchdown or 26 point edge over Palatine. Certainly Ela is not that much of a favorite, but you have to consider they have a good chance of knocking off the Pirates who so far have played hot and cold with the majority of the time on the frigid side.

Dick Welty

Ela has a passing attack with Don Prouty throwing to ends Bob Stockinger, Glen Craffin, and John Langfield, all of whom at six-foot-three or over, will tower over most average sized halfback defenders.

When Ela players ran off the field after the Grant victory two weeks ago they started yelling, "We are going to win the championship." We don't think they will do it, but they may put a crimp in the plans of Palatine and Wauconda, the two teams they would most like to beat.

GRANT, RATED AS A SETUP this year by most observers, rose up and soundly thumped Bensenville's hopefuls Saturday night, 35-13, in the upset of the week. If Grant can do that, then the observation of one of the coaches that "any team in the league can beat any other," may be correct.

Grant is a football school with a tradition of being represented by good teams. They are going to be mighty tough by the time the league leaders meet them and from last Saturday's score they can be mighty rough right now.

IT WOULD BE HARD TO PICK the grid standout of the week in the Northwest conference. You might pick Tony Leonard of Grant who kicked five straight extra points against Bensenville and has six in six tries for the season.

Then again the passing combination of Dennis Punches to Tom Nolan for Wauconda which accounted for two touchdowns and half of Wauconda's yardage against Grayslake might be the highlight performance.

Then there is George Sutko of Wauconda, all-conference halfback, who lived up to that rating with some brilliant ball carrying. Sutko has put on 20 pounds since last year and seems to have lost little of his speed and agility. He was the workhorse of the Bulldogs in Saturday's game.

Then again you might look at defensive play and we have never seen a player make more tackles for a team than Del Koelper made for Palatine in the Antioch game. He was in on a good three-fourths of them and when Koelper hits them they stay put. Right behind him was Chuck James who gave the Antioch quarterback a tough evening as he broke through time after time. Koelper got a bit the worst of the deal though, Saturday, for in his vicious tackling he suffered a broken nose which may keep him out of action this week.

LISTED ON THE ROSTER at Lawrence college, defending Midwest conference football champions, is Dick Spratt of Mt. Prospect, a sophomore. Dick played freshman ball at Bradley, then transferred to Lawrence . . . On the squad at DeKalb from Arlington Heights high school this year are letter winner Chuck Fischer in the backfield, returning squad member Frank Deigl at end, and two frosh, Eddie Kostka and Eric Nelson, both in the backfield.

Other West Suburban league graduates listed include Charles Allen, Louis LaPorte and Calvin Patch of Glenbard, all freshmen . . . At Lawrence there's letterman George Oetting of Riverside at tackle, and sophomore Jim Sackett of LaGrange at guard.

HIGH SCORING in football depends a lot on where a person plays in the offensive system of a team and how good a ball carrier is in comparison with his teammates. Dock Bock of Barrington, transfer from Wilmington, is really their ace as proven by the fact he has scored all five of their touchdowns to date.

His four for 24 points in two North Suburban games gives him a head start on cracking the league record of 52 set by Charlie Goodwin of Warren in 1949.

Bock made three Saturday on passes from Etters as Barrington started to really roll after a slow start in their new league affiliation. Barrington's younger teams are off to a good

Bisons Get 13 Again, But Grant Scores 35

by GIL CUATRECASAS

Bensenville's luck on the gridiron failed to change Saturday night at Grant as a strong Bulldog eleven went on a second half scoring spree to soundly trounce the Bisons, 35 to 13. Thirteen seems to be proving itself an unlucky number for the Bisons since it has been their score in each of the three losing efforts to date.

A 25-yard punt return by Gaylor gave Grant the initial touchdown of the game late in the first quarter. Leonard kicked the conversion and the host squad went ahead, 7 to 0. The Bisons struck back just before the end of the half when Welch completed a 12-yard aerial to walsh in the Bulldog end zone. Jankers' try for the extra point was short, however, and the half ended with the score, 7 to 6.

GRANT'S SECOND half rampage got underway on the very first play of the third quarter when Gaylor returned the kickoff 60 yards to score. A Bison fumble set up an apparent fourth Bulldog counter a few moments later, but a five-yard penalty nullified Torgersen's plunge over the goal line from two yards out. Grant refused to be denied, however, and a few plays later a 35-yard pass play from Schaer to Wisner clicked for a score. Leonard converted both times and the third stanza came to a close with the count 21 to 6.

A 40-yard run by Zelasko put the Bulldogs in position for another touchdown. It appeared as though he might go all the way, but he was nailed from behind by Bedgood just 10 yards away from pay dirt. Two players later, Grenell fired a pass to Raffel who stepped over the goal line. Leonard's kick upped the score to 28 to 6.

NEUMAN scampered 37 yards for the final Grant TD late in the last period. Leonard was sucuessful with his fifth consecutive conversion and the Bulldogs now led 35 to 6. The Bisons' final tally came on the kickoff that followed as Landino romped 75 yards for the longest individual gain of the game. Jankers made the extra point and the final score was: Grant 35, Bensenville 13.

Brother vs. Brother will be in evidence in Friday night's homecoming tussle at Arlington when the line coaches of the two schools will watch their charges vie for honors. Wally Beckman, on the left, assists Glenbard grid mentor Don Fortunato while Bill Beckman, on the right, helps "Bus" Ormsbee at Heights.

Both coaches are graduates of Arlington Heights high school, Bill in '39 and Wally in '48. Bill gained his bachelor's degree at Nebraska in 1950, after the war, and earned his master's in '51 from Northwestern. Wally was graduated from DeKalb in June.

Both brothers married local girls. Bill's wife is the former Margaret Harris, while Wally's better half is the former Joan LaMar. Bill has two children, Jeff, 6, and Janet, 5. Folkman photo

Haseman Truckers Show They're Ready For Defense Inter-League Bowling Title

Any doubts that Haseman Truckers bowling fivesome could successfully defend their Paddock Publications Inter-League kegling title this year weer given a severe jolt Friday night at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine when they racked up a 1064 count for a 2814 total. Their 2719 last year won the event.

The second annual inter-league event, restricted to first place teams of all local men's and women's leagues competing on local alleys, is scheduled for Sunday, January 4, at Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes for the men, and Sunday, January 11, at Bowlwood Recreation at Wood Dale for the ladies.

IRV HAHNFELDT, individual champ in that first Paddock-sponsored tournament at Palatine last year with a 244 game and a 631 series, once again led his mates Friday night as his team continued its winning defense of the House league crown at Palatine.

Irv, sporting a 200 average after four weeks, started slow with a 157 and ended with a 205. In between he carded 278. In that game Warren Perry rolled 222, Marv Perry 223, Carl Huber 178 and H. Olson 163. That's a 1064 total.

THE TRUCKERS, by the way, are tied with Cork and Bottle for the league lead with 10-2 marks. The two leaders are slated to meet Sriday night, October 10, in league play.

First place men's teams as of December 13 will be eligible for the meet, while women's teams "determination date" is December 20. Entry fees will be $15 per team, with some leagues setting aside that amount from league treasuries to pay their loop entrant's fee.

To Meet Again

Heights Frosh Dust Off Palatine, 39-0

It was Arlington's passing versus Palatine fumbles Thursday afternoon on the Heights field as the Cardinal frosh took top honors for Coach Curtis Larsen, 39-0.

It wasn't that Arlington had improved so much over their previous 26-0 loss to Crystal Lake, but that the young Cardinals appeared to be grasping fundamentals of blocking and tackling. And Palatine's fumbles were certainly a help to the Heights lads.

The blocking and tackling, in spots, resembled Arlington's first year squad of last year.

FRED HILDEBRANDT went over on a ten yard plunge for Arlington's initial score in the opening quarter with Striegal's kick blocked. In the second period Wayne Malzahn picked up a Palatine fumble for a 12-yard dash and another TD. A pass from Roger Boeger to Malzahn was good for the extra point.

Another pass from Boeger to Malzahn was good for a 40-yard run and the third touchdown for Heights, making it 19-0 at the half. The point-after-touchdown attempted pass was no good.

DAVID SCHIMMEL, substitute right tackle, picked up a fumble good for a 15-yard score just after the third period opened with the pass for point-after no good.

Bob McDonald then ran 50 yards after taking a short pass from Boeger for the fifth touchdown. A pass from Carl Coffman to Larry Brumm was good for the extra point, making the tally 32-0.

Malzahn took another pass from Coffman for a ten-yard TD in the final period, with a like pass accounting for the 39th point.

THE TWO SQUADS meet again Thursday afternoon of next week in a return match. Arlington may have a game with York either Thursday or Friday of this week. Official word hadn't been received at this writing.

Lyons Harriers Have To Run To Beat Arlington

"They had to run to beat us this year," was one comment heard after Arlington's 43-19 cross country loss to LaGrange Saturday between football games.

That fan was recalling last year's effort against Lyons when the West Suburban hot shots came in, eight abreast, to show up the cross country efforts of Heights coach Russ Attis.

THIS YEAR it was different. Arlington's Jerry Dallstream led all the way except the final 300 yards when Segner of LaGrange ducked ahead in 9:35.1. Jerry's time was 9:46.7.

The winners went on to cop third, fourth and fifth places, but sixth was up for grabs between Congligio of Lyons and Donald Drever of Arlington. Drever lost one by a single yard in the final sprint.

RIGHT BEHIND him was Russell Dahlstrom, who dashed into the chute one yard ahead of the sixth LaGrange boy. Counting for LaGrange, in addition to first and sixth, were Barry third. White fourth an Peak fifth.

Fourth for Heights was Lodiegard Reinke, who ran eleventh. Rash took 15th, Bob Rankine 16th, Sheppard 20th and Hornbostel 21st for the locals.

Next match for the harriers is Friday afternoon at 4:00 against Glenbard.

Two undefeated teams clash Saturday at Lake Zurich when the Palatine Pirates invade the lair of the Ela-Vernon Bears and an even scrap is predicted. Palatine has a 6-6 tie with Warren and 14-3 and 18-6 victories over Bensenville and Antioch. Ela-Vernon beat Oswego 19-6 in a non-conference game and whipped Grant, 12-7. Last week Ela was idle and so had two weeks of uninterrupted practice to get ready for their crucial test with Palatine.

Palatine showed a strong offense for the first time, rolling up 18 points in the first 16 minutes of the Antioch game but rated only one first down in the second half. John Busch at end, Tinker Meyer at quarterback, and Stan Hausemann as fullback stood out with greatly improved performances while Del Koelper and Chuck James spearheaded a tough defensive unit.

DICK ABRAHAMSON, captain and only returning regular, will likely be out another week from his regular end position due to early season injuries. Koelper, who suffered a broken nose in the Antioch game, may be sidelined. Loss of these boys will make Palatine the underdog again this week particularly in view of Ela having two weeks to get their team primed for this game.

If Palatine is to win they must fashion a pass defense which will stop the big six-foot-four Ela ends from snaring Don Prouty's accurate aerials. John Langfield, Glenn Chaffin, and Bob Stockinger are the lanky ends who make Ela a real conference threat this year. Jerry Schuetz, a 180-pound veteran guard, is a standout in a rugged defensive line. The game Saturday is a single affair starting at 2:30.

COACH MENEGUIN'S Bensenville Bisons, who suffered such a rude reception at Grant Saturday night, may vent their feelings at Grayslake Saturday afternoon. The latter has a fair team but did not look good at all in comparison with their rival, Wauconda, last Saturday, losing 19-0. Appearances are sometimes deceiving though and the Bison coaches who scouted Grayslake are not going to expect anything like a pushover.

Right at this point it looks like the Bison-Rams winner Saturday might escape finishing in the league cellar. Coach Meneguin hopes his good halfback, LaFata, who missed the first two conference games, may be ready for action Saturday.

ANTIOCH HAS A real good ball team. They outplayed Wauconda but lost 14-13 in their opener. They found Palatine red hot the first quarter and could never make up an 18-0 first half deficiency though showing power and strength once they got underway.

This week the Sequoits must win for a second division berth awaits them if they lose and a homecoming against a neighboring rival, Grant, will be nearly ruined.

LaGrange Is Double Winner Over Heights

Arlington's football aggregation had a beautiful day for a trip to LaGrange Saturday afternoon. The sun was out, it was hot, perfect for an outing. Only cloud on the entire horizon was a Lyons township affair which drenched Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's boys, 32-0.

The Cardinals were in there all the time, with a creditable third quarter until a short kick and TD broke their spirits.

ONCE AGAIN the ends were slow for Heights. Dick McAuliffe played a whale of a game at center and passing protection was good. Outstanding work among the backs was put out by Roger Thomas.

Evidence of how LaGrange had things their own way is shown by the 235-79 margin in rushing yardage. Arlington led in passing yardage, 40-23, but attempted better than three times as many tosses.

Best ground gainers for the locals were Mitsch with 30 yards, Werner with 29 and Thomas with 29. Neither Joe Rezek nor Tom Theis were used, the latter dressing, but being held out due to previous injuries. Both boys are expected to see action Friday night in the homecoming tilt against Glenbard.

IN THE PRELIMINARY Coach John Ligon's frosh-sophs fumbled at the start of the third quarter just after the kickoff and that was the ball game, 7-0.

Otherwise, the game was an even affair. Most of the action was in the middle of the field, though LaGrange's youngsters were deep in Heights territory twice on a blocked punt and a dropepd punt.

Arlington's greatest opportunity came in the opening period when LaGrange fumbled on their own 30 yard line. The young Cardinals couldn't carry it over, however.

Both squads were about equal in size, but the hosts were much faster, often beating Heights to the punch before the locals could get started.

Announce Increased Stake Program For '53 At Arlington Park

Racing's richest prizes for thoroughbreds which finish second-third-and fourth, and greatly increased added money in four two-year-old stakes were announced by Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of Arlington Park and Washington Park.

In announcing the twin Chicago tracks' impressive future stakes program of six events for 1953, the statement revealed:

1. An all-time high of $30,000 will be awarded the second horse in four of the races, with $15,000 to third and $10,000 to fourth. The "big four" are the $100,000 Washington Park Handicap, the $100,000 Arlington Classic, the Arlington Futurity, and the Washington Park Futurity.

2. Each of the Futurities has been substantially increased to $75,000 added, with an expected gross of $145,000 for each and first money in excess of $90,000.

3. The Arlington Lassie and Princess Pat Stakes, already the world's richest races for two-year-old fillies, each has been increased to $50,000 added, with $20,000 for second, $12,000 for third, and $6,000 for fourth. A record gross of approxmately $100,000 is expected for each, the winner receiving $60,000.

4. The Arlington Handicap, American Derby, and Arlington Matron will be late-closing events instead of future stakes in 1953, as highlights of an overall stakes program with a total distribution in excess of $1,100,000.

The six future stakes will close November 1, 1952.

Eliot Rates Illini Underdogs Against Wisconsin

Rugged work with emphasis on defenses planned to stop Wisconsin's powerful attack greeted Illinois football players Monday as Coach Ray Eliot prepared his squad for a show-down Big Ten game at Madison Saturday.

The Illini coach was dissatisfied with the way his defensive platoon allowed Iowa State runners to outgain Illinois by rushing in the season's opener. Cyclone backs ran for 191 yards against Eliot's team, although they lacked a scoring punch at decisive moments.

"If we can't stop Iowa State's running, I hate to think what will happen when we go up against men like Alan Ameche, Harland Carl, and Jerry Witt of the Badgers. We made a lot of mistakes in that first game and we simply hope we can correct them in practice this week," Eliot said.

ELIOT WAS PLEASED with performance of his squad on pass defense. Iowa State was able to complete only four passes for a net of 37 yards and six times Illini defenders intercepted throws of Cyclone backs.

Illinois' running game was anything but potent in the opener and Eliott is disturbed by loss for the season of Billy Ellis, promising sophomore halfback from Carbondale. Ellis suffered torn ligaments at the knee and underwent an operation Monday.

"We already were mighty thin at half-back," Eliot pointed out. "Now we're down to the point that we're almost afraid to scrimmage since injury to anybody else in the backfield would cripple us beyond hope."

BILL TATE, senior fullback from Mattoon who missed practically all pre-season drills because of illness, indicated last week he'll be back in top form for the Bodger tilt. He ran four times against Iowa State and averaged eight years per try.

Counteracting Tate's return, however, was possibility that Cliff Waldbeser, No. 1 defensive right end, may miss the Wisconsin tilt with a shoulder separation. The lanky junior from Morton ran 72 yards for a touchdown against Iowa State after grabbing a Cyclone fumble in mid-air.

Otherwise, except for assorted bruises, Illinois' squad will be in top physical shape Saturday. Dick Miller, sophomore from Lanark, has returned to duty after being sidelined for a week with a leg injury. He probably will handle kick-offs against the Badgers and relieve Bob Weddell at right tackle.

WHILE THE ILLINI will enter Saturday's game as the underdog, at least in the opinion of Eliot, a potent passing attack revealed against Iowa State may cause Wisconsin its greatest concern.

Tommy O'Connell, sharp-shooting quarterback, had one of his greatest days in the opener, hitting 11 of 16 passes for a net of 191 yards. One pass went for a touchdown and two others set the stage for short scoring runs.

O'Connell's receivers, Rex Smith, senior from Chicago (South Shore), and John "Rocky" Ryan, junior from Tolono, also were impressive. Ryan hauled in six of Tommy's aerials for 119 yards and Smith caught three for 49.

Palatine Frosh Trim Ela-Vernon, 19-6

The Palatine freshmen, led by speedy Jim Hess, easily beat the Ela-Vernon freshmen Tuesday by a score of 19 to 6. Palatine scored all of their touchdowns on runs by Hess of 80, 30, and 60 yards. Bob Coates made the one extra point on a line plunge. Ela scored theirs on a drive from thir own forty which was sparked by a fine passing attack that tinally put them over from the Palatine twenty yard line.

The win at Ela was the freshmen's second of the year against one loss. The Pirates whipped Antioch 32 to 13, and Ela 19 to 6, while losing to Arlington Hts. 33 to 0. Jim Hess has scored 42 of Palatine's total 51 and will be setting his sights for a few more when Palatine plays at Bensenville next Monday.

Punches' Passes Lead Wauconda To Victory

The combination of George Sutko's ball carrying and the passes of Dennis Punches to Tom Nolan stood out as Wauconda whipped Grayslake, 19-0, for their second in a row in the Northwest conference and the third straight for the season. Grayslake won the preliminary frosh-soph game, 14-6.

The Bulldogs got their first tally early in the game on a 23-yard pass from Punches to Bill Jewell. Harold Bass converted on a place kick and Wauconda was in front, 7-0. Grayslake had a chance in the second period on an intercepted pass with first down on Wauconda's 11-yard line. In four downs the Rams were 20 yards from the goal.

COACH HALEY'S team took the ball on their own 19 yard line and marched 81 yards to score at the opening of the second half. The Bulldogs used just eight plays. Long ones were runs of 15 yards by Punches, 22 yards by Olson, and 18 yards by Sutko. Punches tossed a 20 yard pass to Nolan for the score.

The third touchdown came in the last quarter as Wauconda put together three long gaining plays. George Sutko ran 20 yards and then Punches passed to Nolan for 29 and followed with another pass of 24 for the touchdown. Wauconda was on the Grayslake one yard line trying for a fourth score when the game ended.

PALATINE'S SPACIOUS new gym is beginning to take shape as the steel framework goes up this week. Locker rooms under the bleachers have been nearly finished for some time, but walls, the frame, the roof and the playing floor have been delayed by lack of steel. Contractors say January 1 for completion, but that is an optimistic estimate. With an old gym which handles 600 crowded, in a school with 680 students and many interested fans and visitors, the staging of basketball games will be difficult.

Faced by this situation, the writer contacted Wally Grace and Leroy Knoeppel of Arlington Heights high and a deal was worked out with the Arlington game the night before Thanksgiving being shifted to the new Arlington gym which seats over 3,500.

Arlington will give Palatine an amount equal to the gate receipts from the game played at Palatine in 1950, and will themselves make more than that amount, for there will be a lot of interest, both student and adult, in this early season game on the night before a holiday when most of the alumni will be back to see their favorites in action.

It will be a good deal financially for both schools, but the main idea in the arrangement was to give all the fans a chance to see this game for the sleighbells trophy which packs so much local interest.

Palatine In Second League Win In A Row Over Antioch

by GERRY McELROY

The Palatine Pirates jumped to an early 18 to 0 lead over Antioch Saturday night as they went on to win their second straight conference victory of the year against no losses.

The Pirates scored on the ninth play of the game as Skip Hauseman plunged over from the five yard line. Just before the first quarter ended Palatine scored again, this time on a 29 yard pass from Schrage to Busch. Six plays after the second quarter started the Pirates scored their final touchdown as Paul Schrage plunged over from the one to extend his scoring total to 18 points in two conference games.

The Antioch Sequoits finally started to roll in the third period as most of the remainder of the game was played in Palatine's end of the field. Big Charlie Bock put the score over for the Sequoits in the fourth quarter when he plunged over from the one yard line.

THE PIRATES won the toss and received the kickoff on their own 34. A 13 yard run by Bruno put the ball on the 47, and on the next down Schrage ran 14 yards to the Antioch 34. Runs by Schrage and Bruno brought the ball to the Sequoit six where Hauseman plunged over for the touchdown. The kick for the extra point was wide.

Three minutes before the first quarter ended, Del Koelper recovered an Antioch fumble on the Sequoit 39. Runs by Tinker Meyer of four and eight yards took the ball to the Antioch 17, but two five yard penalties put the Pirates back with a first down with twenty yards to go. On the next play Schrage threw a long pass to Busch from the 29 yard line and Busch ran about five remaining yards for the touchdown. This time the kick was blocked and the Pirates led, 12 to 0.

TWO MINUTES after the second quarter got underway the Pirates scored again, this time on a drive that started with a recovered fumble on the Antioch 45. A pass this time on a drive that started with a recovered fumble on the Antioch 45. A pass to Hartman was good for nine yards and a twelve yard jaunt by Hauseman put the ball on the Sequoit 27. Another pass to Hartman was good to the 21 where Hauseman ran 15 yards to the four. A four yard smash by Bruno and a one yard plunge by Schrage was good enough to complete the scoring drive and the Pirates led by 18 points.

Antioch scored their touchdown in the fourth quarter as they marched from their own 41 to the Palatine goal line where Bock went over for a TD. Prominent in the Sequoit drive was Charlie Bock who gained 41 yards of the 59 needed for the score.

THE VICTORY over Antioch put the Pirates in a tie with Wauconda for the Northwest conference lead as they both have 2-0 records. The next game for Palatine is with the undefeated Ela Bears at Lake Zurich Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Cards To Host Bears Sunday; No Holds Barred

The greatest rivalry in professional football will be resumed at Comiskey Park next Sunday afternoon, when the Chicago Bears meet the Cardinals in the sixty-second game of the time-honored series.

The southside Cardinals will be boasting three straight victories over the Bears when they take the field Sunday, having won both games last fall, and the final engagement with the Bears in 1950. However, the Bears hold a big edge in the series, with 39 wins, 16 losses and 6 ties. They also hold a big edge in points, with a total of 1,105, as for 658 for the Cards.

A HOST of new Bears will be appearing against the Cardinals for the first time. They are Leon "Muscles" Campbell, fullback; Jim LeSane, Jim Dooley, and Babe Dimancheff, halfbacks; Jack Hoffman and Bill McColl, ends; and Fred Williams, Bill Bishop, Bill George, Herman Clark and Bobby Cross, tackles. They rate with the finest rookie crops ever uncovered by the Bears.

Chuck Hunsinger, one of the Bears' top ball carriers, is expected to be back in the lineup Sunday. Although available, he was held out of the Packer game at Green Bay because of a charley horse. Hunsinger was running at left halfback yesterday morning as the Bears began practice for the Cardinal tilt.

Northern's Huskies have never beaten a Beloit team. The Bucs victory margins were 12-0 in 1906, 42-0 in 1911 115-0 in 1913, 31-19 in 1922, and 33-7 in 1923.

Pirate Frosh-Sophs Make It Unanimous

Palatine sophomores took their second straight victory Friday night winning a 13-6 decision over Antioch's frosh-sophs in the final minute of play.

Palatine scored in the first quarter when Don Corso intercepted a pass and ran 33 yards for a touchdown. At the start of the second half Bill Gallagher ran a kick 60 yards for Antioch's touchdown.

Late in the final quarter Palatine marched from midfield and Ray Lorden went over from the one yard line on a quarterback sneak and Corso kicked the goal. Palatine showed a strong running game with Corso and Martz ripping off consistent gains but numerous penalties prevented a sustained drive until the final quarter.

Lawrence To Open Defense Of Midwest League Title Saturday

The Lawrence Vikings will open the defense of their Midwest conference crown Saturday at Whiting Field against the Grinnell Pioneers, in their first major test of the season.

Scouting reports indicate that Grinnell is a highly improved team. Playing from a new formation, the Pioneers stubbornly held Coe for three quarters last week before losing in the final quarter 21-7.

No major injuries resulted in Lawrence's first grid encounter of the season. Halfback Carl Shields received a sprained ankle but should be ready for the Grinnell game. Tailback Carl Stumpf moved to the wingback position for the injured Shields and did a commendable job.

Arlington JV Football Team Loses To McHenry

A hurriedly formed Arlington Heights junior varsity football team took it on the chin from the McHenry varsity Friday afternoon on the local gridiron, 37-0. Polio at Burlington, Wis., high school, postponed the McHenry game and the hurried affair at Heights was the result.

McHenry wasn't too particular how they scored. They made three touchdowns running and three passing.

Answers to Your Questions

What are Pre-Arrangement Plans?

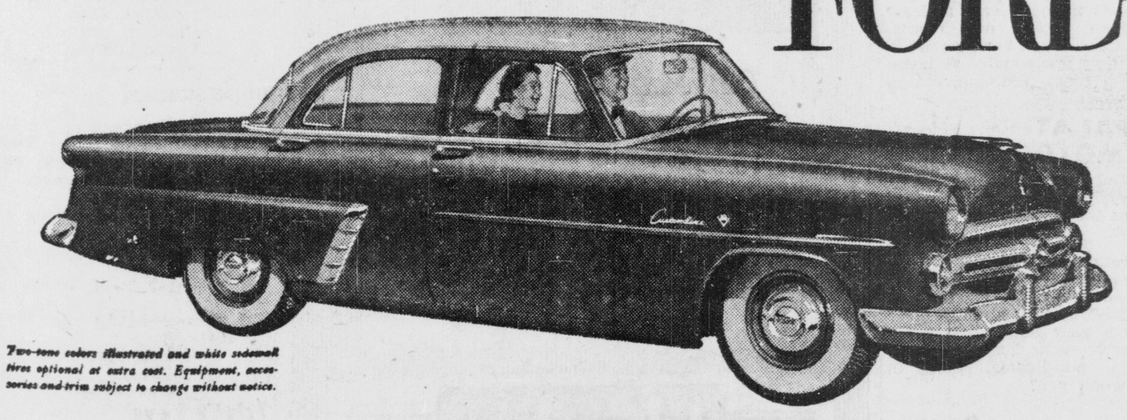

Most thoughtful people make wills, arrange for pensions, or set up insurance plans far in advance of need. We suggest it is equally wise to order the type of funeral service you prefer and thus avoid extravagant decisions in time of grief. We invite your inquiry about our Pre-Arrangement Plan.

PAY MORE? WHAT FOR?

Before this year, if you wanted a big-car ride . . . a high-compression engine . . . a complete choice of interior-exterior appointments . . . or a curved one-piece windshield and a car-wide rear window, you had to pay hundreds of dollars more. Now FORD offers all these features at no extra cost. It's the one fine car in the low-price field. Take 10 minutes and "Test Drive" a Ford. You'll agree . . . you can pay more but you can't buy better.

FORD

Two-tone colors illustrated and white sidewall tires optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.

NOW! your home can be Beautiful

IF TWO PEOPLE SHARE A ROOM

The needs and tastes of each occupant must be given careful consideration. Inevitably, in a shared bedroom, the question of storage space bobs up. Usually "Which drawer is mine?" keeps occupants in a quandry. Instead of buying one large chest and dividing drawer space, you'll find it more convenient to . . .

HAVE TWO LOW CHESTS

Stand them side by side and tie them into one unit with one large mirror hung above them. This will add to the decorative treatment of the room; also offers a variety of arrangement possibilities, besides giving private storage areas to each occupant. In a long, narrow room, chests might double for night stands.

If you're looking for new, novel space-saving ideas, are in a color quandry, in fact, if you have any decorating or furnishing problem, come in and talk it over with our friendly, trained decorator staff. We're sure we can be helpful.

If you are like most folks—never have enough places to put things—then you'll want at least one of our lovely new chests. Masterfully crafted, versatile pieces that are equally at home in living room, bedroom, dining room or hall.

Come in and see our wide assortment of beds and sleeping equipment. Box springs and air foam and innerspring mattresses. Remember, you owe it to yourself to have the ultimate in sleeping comfort.

We're sure you'll find it rewarding to browse through our showrooms where you'll find many new, up-to-the-minute ideas to make your housework easier and faster—your home more attractive and livable. Come in soon, won't you?

The date for the PTA dance has been finally set for Nov. 15 at the Forest River community house. The box lunch supper will be at 8 p. m. The dance will start at 9 p. m. A limit of $3.00 per boy has been placed on the bidding for the box supper.

The Brownies Unit now has 20 members. Mrs. Reisinger, who was one of the original founders of our group, is leaving us and transferring to the Glenview unit. Her daughter, Eileen, now attends the Glenview school.

We need another leader and two troop committee members. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Stanley Haverkampf, Vanderbilt 4-8676 or Miss Rudd.

Any mother who is interested in helping to organize a cub scout pack, please get in touch with Carl Bischof, Vanderbilt 4-8636. Since we have Brownies and Girl Scouts for the girls, it is too bad that the boys do not have a scout unit.

There are still a few of the children who are not covered by the special school insurance. The fee is $1.00 for the school year. Any mother who wishes to take advantage of this insurance should contact either of the teachers or Mrs. Hjalmar Sandquist.

The district can be very proud of two of its students. Billy and Kay Phar had the honor of playing in the band under the direction of Paul Lavell in the Chicagoland Music Festival. They have been playing in concerts all summer with the Maine Township high school summer concert band sponsored by the Park Ridge park board and the Maine Township school board. They just recently played with the band in the competition held at the Riverview Mardi Gras.

Elect officers

The Student Council held its election of officers Monday, September 29. Susie Carter was elected president; Fred Klamer, vice president; Emily Reimer, secretary; Myrna Scharringhausen, treasurer. Mothers' Club

The Mothers' club will meet October 9, at 1:30 p. m., at the school. This will be an interesting meeting as Dr. Dorothy M. McGeoch of Northern Illinois State Teachers' college will be the speaker for the afternoon.

Room meetings

Most of the teachers are planning room meetings right after school in the near future. This will give mothers an opportunity to visit their child's room and to become acquainted with the teacher and the school program and to meet their classmates' mothers. The second grade had their meeting September 24, and it was well attended. The fifth grade will have their meeting October 2; the fourth grade, October 3, and the third grade October 7.

Registration

Registration for residents living in Precinct No. 3 will be held in the school October 7. See information elsewhere in this issue for precinct boundaries.

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

The resumption of a task temporarily in abeyance is always a heavy load. I sympathize with all those people who confess that they have long been away from the church and recognize that they should go back as to the old home — but they seem unable to make the initial effort. The picking up of a burden laid down for a season is frequently a heavier task than the original lifting of the burden.

I resume a task, laid aside for almost two months. The advantage I find which the person who has long been away from the Lord's house does not have is that I know the day and the hour on which this task must be resumed. If the rich fool had known the day and the hour of his accountability, he would have concerned himself less with barns and harvests. If each of us know the day and the hour in which we might need the comfort and the encouragement of the Gospel, in which we might need the wisdom and the strength of the Gospel, we might not delay so long.

BUT A SHORT TIME ago, it was summer and I was going to camp and writing about it. Then the "Shadows of the Steeple" were cast in advance because I know I would not be writing them for a while.

The grass and trees and fields were green in summer when I went to the hospital. I came home and went to the second floor. The grass and trees and fields were turning brown and it was autumn when I went out into our yard and looked about.

It was not a serious bit of surgery. The muscles which were affected by operation and stay in bed are recovering. It is the will to pick up the tasks that were laid down that seems most difficult to exert. At the last day, almost the last hour, the urgency of the moment says, This must be done now; it cannot longer be delayed.

Can you always be sure that there will be a discernible deadline? Will you be able to know that you have time to develop the inner resources to meet the questions of growing young people in your home? When life tumbles in for you, will you know where and how to gain the strength and courage for living?

DO YOU REMEMBER last November, when that sudden snow and freezing weather struck? A nurseryman told me that perhaps three-fourths of all the new rosebushes in this area were caught in that. He said customers will be in here next spring wanting to know why their roses have died during the winter; everybody was caught unprepared.

Have you endeavored to pick up the burden of making adequate preparation for the moral and spiritual crisis which might strike on a day in November, or ten years from now—or in another hour?

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That we live in a universe of ideas—without boundaries of time or space, finding Mind to be real and eternal and matter to be unreal and temporal, will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 5. The title of the Lesson-Sermon will be UNREALITY.

The Golden Text is from Job (15: 31) "Let not him that is deceived trust in vanity: for vanity shall be his recompence."

Bible selections (King James Version) in the Lesson-Sermon include:

"Let no man deceive himself. If any man among you seemeth to be wise in this world, let him become a fool, that he may be wise. For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness. And again, the Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain" (1 Cor. 3: 18-20).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Material sense expresses the belief that mind is in matter. This human belief, alternating between a sense of pleasure and pain, hope and fear, life and death, never reaches beyond the boundary of the mortal or the unreal . . . How true it is that whatever is learned thorugh material sense must be lost because such so-called knowledge is reversed by the spiritual facts of being in Science" (pp. 298, 312).

Mt. Prospect Woman Author Of New Juvenile Book Just Published

CATHRINE CLEVEN

Cathrine Cleven, Mt. Prospect, is the author of the new juvenile book, "The Secret of the King's Field," published this week by Bobbs-Merrill.

"The Secret of the King's Field" won first prize in a national contest last year. This exciting story for the 8-12 age group describes the adventures of a French peasant boy in the 18th century and is based on a true historical incident.

Mrs. Cleven, who lives at 506 S. Emerson st., has invitations from Evanston schools to appear at their "Book Fairs" during National Book Week. She is planning a trip to New York to do research for her next juvenile book.

The Mt. Prospect PTA has invited Mrs. Cleven to display her book at the Book Fair Thursday night in the Mt. Prospect public school.

Prospect Hts. Man Given Year's Award

William H. Spears of Prospect Heights was named "PR Man of the Year" at the 71st annual meeting of the American transit association held in Atlantic City, N. J., last week.

The award was made at a special luncheon given at the Traymore hotel Thursday. Walter Sandt of the Fred Eldean public relations organization made the presentation, citing the nominating article in Mass Transportation's September issue, Spears' "surpassing director of public relations" award by William Stuart's Heard and Seen weekly, and the PR News Digest's editorial which credited Spears for creating the current wave of indignation toward all-night on-street parking.

ROGER W. BABSON, well known business analyst and investment counselor and one of the featured speakers at the convention, praised Spears for having stimulated constructive thinking on downtown decentralization and the wide publicity being given to the traffic-transit tangle. B. A. Bildersee, vice-president of the Washington Industrial Research Association, credited Spears for reviving the old public-private ownership debate and for the great amount of press and magazine coverage given to Col. S. H. Bingham's formula for municipal acquisition of city transit systems.

The Traymore testimonial luncheon was the fourth time this year that Spears has been honored in the public relation and advertising field. Another award is possible in the financial world's annual report survey as five of the five corporation annual reports handled by Spears this year have already won merit citations. Final annual report awards will be announced early in October.

Mr. Spears is president of the Arlington area school boards' association and president of the Prospect Heights board of education.

Insurance Agency Hits Million Dollar Sales 100 Times In 100 Months

As of October, 1952, the Earl M. Schwemm agency of the Great-West Life Assurance company will celebrate its 100th consecutive month of $1,000,000 or more of production. This record is unique among insurance agencies in the United States.

Participating in this accomplishment is Victor H. Beisler, the Great-West Life Arlington Heights representative. Beisler himself since coming into the insurance business three years ago has established a notable record. His consistent monthly production has earned him a perfect honor roll record as well as qualifying him each year for the honor section in the company's Presidents' club.

Vic Beisler is an old Arlington Heights resident, having resided the past 13 years at 501 N. State rd. with his wife, Ruth, and their three children. He is as well-known for his numerous community activities as well as his complete insurance service. Besides being treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce, he is active in the Lions club and in church committees.

Start Work On New Palatine Jewel Store

Foundations are being prepared for the Jewel store that Fred Brietling, 250 E. Colfax st., Palatine, has contracted to build at N. Brockway and Wilson sts., Palatine, for the Jewel Stores.

The structure will be 72x140 ft. with two parking lots, 60x132 ft. each. A corner store, 16x75 ft. has not yet been rented.

Mr. Brietling has decided to make use of the excavation that was made over twenty years ago. He does not know to what use it will be put.

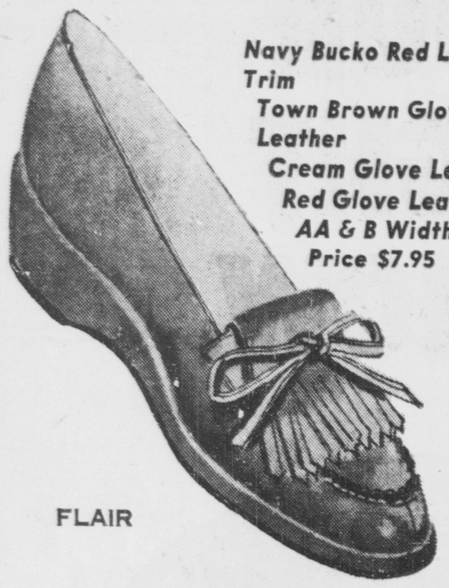

Building construction will be of brick and terra cotta, similar to the Park Ridge Jewel store. There will be a tower 36 ft. high. The architect is Jans J. Jensen.

Plain dealing is the best when all is done.

DON'T LAY OFF WORK JUST TO MAKE A LOAN

"That's unnecessary if you make a "Just Your Signature" Loan from Imperial. When you borrow on just your signature, all you need do is to get to a phone, ring up Roy Geyer at VAnderbilt 4-3151, tell him how much you want and when you'll be in to get your money. It's that simple, regardless whether you're borrowing $10 or $500 or any amount in between.

WEEKLY RECIPE

Apples are nutritious and right now are very plentiful. This week I am giving you a recipe using them in a way you will enjoy. Try apple rice pudding with butterscotch meringue as soon as possible—you won't have any trouble, and it's a wonderful dish.

Apple Rice Pudding with Butterscotch Meringue

1 cup white rice, uncooked
6 medium apples, thinly sliced
1 tsp. salt
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
3 cups milk

Meringue

2 egg yolks
2 egg whites
4 tbsp. brown sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
Butter

Method: Wash rice and cook in saucepan with 1 quart boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt for 10 minutes. Drain. Butter 2 quart casserole generously and place half the apple slices in casserole. Combine salt, sugar, and cinnamon, and sprinkle 1/3 of mixture over apples; add half the rice and remainder of apples and sprinkle with second 1/3 of sugar mixture; top with remaining rice and sugar mixture. Combine milk with beaten egg yolks and pour over all. Cover and bake in pre-heated oven at 300 degrees for about 2 hours, stirring occasionally, and adding extra milk if necessary and as needed. Uncover and cook 30 minutes longer to brown. Remove from oven. Preheat oven to 450 degrees while preparing meringue.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually add brown sugar, beating all the while, until sugar is thoroughly combined with eggs and eggs are very stiff. This should resemble marshmallow in consistency. Add vanilla. Cover pudding with meringue—return to oven and make 4½ minutes longer.

Resolution Adopted By Arlington Heights Chamber Of Commerce

Whereas a petition has been filed with the Village Board of Arlington Heights asking the rezoning of a certain tract of land on South State Road for the purpose of erecting a shopping center with sole egress and ingress on South State Road,

Whereas a thorough discussion has been had with reference to the effect of such an establishment known as a shopping center upon the present business establishment and the public at large,

Whereas it appears that the plan submitted by Rockwell and Stanton adequately provides for the enlargement of the present business district and parking facilities,

And, Whereas this plan can be executed within a reasonable time and will assure the buying public adequate parking and shopping facilities,

And, Whereas it appears that the southside area is lacking park and recreation areas,

Now, Therefore, it is hereby resolved that the Chamber of Commerce of Arlington Heights oppose the erection of a shopping center on South State Road; and recommend a further study to convert the tract on South State Road into a public park for the benefit of the residents living south of the tracks,

And, Whereas it appears that such a change is prayed for in said petition now before the Village Board,

It is further resolved that the secretary is hereby instructed to file a copy of this resolution with the board of this village hearing the petition for rezoning.

'Money, Teachers and Bus Service Acute School Problems'

— Noble J. Puffer

School boards are facing a number of problems, all of which boil down to a need of money and teachers, Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, said Monday.

Outlining the troubles of county school districts, he pointed out that the problems stem from acute growing pains.

"We are trying to meet the demand for teachers by encouraging college students, particularly women, to consider teaching as a desirable career," Puffer said. "The county is short right now of teachers in grades one through four and of home economics and shop teachers."

HE SAID THE transportation problem can best be met by local school board members using a stern hand when more bus service is requested. He pointed out that while the state law requires transportation be furnished to pupils living a mile and a half from schools, the most the state pays is $20 a pupil a year. Transportation costs, however, are running about $65 a pupil a year, he said.

"It takes determination to turn down demands for more bus service," Puffer said. "When buses pick up youngsters living a mile and a half from school, parents who live a mile and a quarter away want service, and then the ones a mile from school want it. It can get pretty expensive because the state won't pay for anyone closer than a mile and a half."

THERE SEEMS little immediate hope for solution of building fund needs of growing school districts. Puffer pointed out that most districts, with the exception of a few areas with high assessed valuation, are at or near the 71-cent per $100 ceiling. Possible solutions include more state aid or an increase in the tax ceiling.

Several other solutions have been considered, but Puffer said he feels these are inadvisable for Cook county. One is federal aid to education, which is generally opposed by school administrators, and another is a county-wide school board. Under the latter plan "wealthy" school districts would help finance schools in "poorer" districts.

"I DO NOT ADVOCATE a county-wide district in a county such as Cook," Puffer continued. "I think most people would prefer to consider education a local problem to be solved on the local level. With the present system people can keep a close watch on their boards of education."

Rockwell, City Planner, Tells Zoning Board His Opinion of Proposed Shopping Center

Continuation of the public hearing re: shopping center, was held Monday night at the Arlington Heights village hall, with Matthew Rockwell, Chicago, as chief witness for the opponents.

Rockwell, a city planner with the firm Stanton and Rockwell, has recently completed a long range plan for the village and he outlined to the zoning board of appeals the steps of the plan. He pointed out the present shopping area was adequate in front footage and floor space requirements to accommodate a village of this size, which population he estimated was 11,000 last December.

"The stores," he continued, "are not adequate in the types of merchandise offered and are deficient from a standpoint that parking facilities meet only 2/5 of the requirement on a minimum scale for parking of three square foot of store space to one square foot of parking."

He pointed ou an old established business district could hardly expect to get the desired ratio, but they could strive for at least a 1 to 1 ratio.

ROCKWELL said in the long range plan they anticipated the present shopping area to expand to the east and south, along State rd., to eventually include the land in question. He said there was also room for expansion of the business district west along Northwest hwy.

"However, an improvement such as that contemplated by the petitioner, would be undesirable at present, and would certainly be a blight to the existing business center," said Rockwell. "Expansion should not come until the prosperity in the present center becomes so great it must expand."

Rockwell believes there should be only one main shopping area in a village. He says there is not enough business to support two such areas. Regarding the proposed site, the long range plans include the development of more than 50 per cent of it for commercial purposes, but such a development now is "too soon, and too much of the proposed area is contemplated being used," concluded Rockwell.

During his talk Rockwell also stressed the importance of the present business district going ahead with plans to better parking facilities and bringing in capital type items not being purchased at present in Arlington Heights.

Henry A. Goyke, 205 S. Pine, told the zoning board he lived within 40 feet of one of the proposed buildings in the shopping center, and said he felt that not only his, but all property surrounding the area would be depreciated if the center were erected.

He told the board he had studied several similar shopping centers and he found they definitely created traffic hazards. Goyke said it involved a moral issue and he feels one group of men have no right to profit at the expense of others.

NICHOLAS LATTOF, 212 N Haddow, a resident of Arlington Heights for 16 years, expressed that though the location of the proposed shopping center would not directly affect him, it would hurt him to see others as a result of its erection. He feels it would be detrimental to Scarsdale and adjacent territory, it would create a traffic hazard on State rd., and its location would be a detriment to the already established business district.

Lattof said he knew the business men must take immediate action to improve the present shopping area, and with this contemplated improvement it should be adequate to serve the needs of Arlington residents. He felt the property in question would better serve as a park and that a shopping center like the one proposed would be better located elsewhere, where an existing center is not already established. The hearing was continued until October 27, at 8 p.m., at the village hall.

Local Republicans Warned Not To Repeat '48 Overconfidence

"For one reason or another even a wisely led political party, given long tenure of office, finally fails to express any longer the will of the people; it ceases to be an effective instrument of the government. It is far better for such a political party, certainly better for the state, that it should be relegated to the role of critic and that the opposing political party should assume the reins of government."

The above statement was made by the late Democratic president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, in 1932, and was repeated at the GOP rally in Arlington Heights by Mrs. Wesley M. Dixon, Republican national committeewoman of Illinois. She said, "This is the only time I have ever completely agreed with a statement made by a Democrat."

RICHARD LYONS, Libertyville, well known Republican leader and speaker, opened the rally with a stimulating talk which urged each and every Republican present to go out and work as they have never worked before for a Republican victory.

"Be optimistic, but not over confident of a victory," warned Lyons. "Remember 1948, we were over confident then, and look what happened. Don't sit back and relax because you hear good reports of the progress and gains made by the present campaign. That's what happened in 1948. Work every minute possible of every day left in this campaign; don't lose sight of the job you have to do until the polls open November 4. If this is carried out by every member of the Republican party, then, and only then, can we be assured of a Republican vitcory in 1952."

Grenville Beardsley, candidate for state's attorney, told the need for a county bureau of investigation, which he plans to put into effect if he is elected. This bureau would investigate crime, which has become a business in Cook county, and would work along the same trends as the FBI.

Main speaker of the afternoon was Marguerite Stitt Church, congresswoman of the 13th congressional district.

"What this country needs," said Mrs. Church, "is a new perspective, a new purpose. No Democrat could take office at this time and accomplish this need."

THE MAIN reason Mrs. Church wants to see a Republican congress and Republican president is to have the acknowledgment in this country that "for us and the world there is no substitute for human freedom. The most important thing we have to give the world is the knowledge that we can walk as free men."

"The only way we can be assured of a Republican victory," concluded Mrs. Church, "is to make sure there is not a possible Republican vote left home November 4. The combined effort of every party member is the only way to win."

Other guests at the rally included Philip Mitchell, candidate for recorder of deeds of Cook county; Francis X. Connell, candidate for clerk of the circuit court, and Mrs. Alverta Stewart, co-chairman of the Cook county Republican women.

The rally was sponsored by township committeemen from Elk Grove, Barrington, Palatine, Hanover, Schaumburg and Wheeling, in conjunction with the Regular Republican Women's club of Wheeling township.

Night School Enrollment Breaks All Records; Expected To Exceed 1,000

Instruction started Monday night at the Adult Evening school in Arlington Heights with 946 students enrolled. Total enrollment will probably be more than 1,000 when all registrations are in, which is far greater than any previous total.

Six sections of sewing have been provided for classes this fall, two each being held Mondays and Wednesdays, one Tuesday and one Thursday. An additional sewing room with machines and flat top tables has been provided for this year's classes. Two sections on interior decorating are meeting Mondays and Tuesdays, two sections of typing, two of shorthand, two classes in beginning English and two sections of class piano have been provided because of small enrollments.

THE FIRST night of classes revealed students attending from Chicago's near northside, Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Barrington, Itasca, and Algonquin, in addition to those from Wheeling, Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Roselle.

Heaviest nights of class participation are Mondays and Wednesdays, with a few classes scheduled for Tuesday night, and one section meeting Thursday. In addition to classes meeting in the high school building there will be one section of ceramics at South school Wednesdays and two classes in interior decorating at Hilltop Studios.

For the most part, classes are held to limited enrollments in order to provide adequate instruction and individual participation. Facilities in the new addition to the high school building are being used for classes in commercial subjects, home economics, contract bridge, square dancing, ballroom dancing, class piano and men's gym. The new class in world politics will use facilities in the new library conference room. Travel and adventure leads the list in class enrollments and will hold their meetings in the girls' gym on stated Tuesdays.

INSTRUCTORS for this year's classes range from holders of Masters Degrees to highly skilled technicians and artists, all of whom hold outstanding positions in their respective fields of work.

Driver training instruction is being carried on to a record number of adults in the Wednesday night class, also for private students and for a record high school enrollment. Three driver training cars are being used for instructional purposes this year, two of which are standard gear shift cars, and the third an automatic transmission. A staff of six instructors are available in driver training.

The total taxes are $2,427,376.29, of which $1,347,182.88, or more than half, constitute the various school taxes.

City and village taxes are $417,222.19; county taxes, $255,385.27; sanitary district taxes, $114,047.94; park district taxes, $106,744.99; township road and bridge taxes and road and bridge bond taxes, $94,688.26; township taxes, $52,834.26; forest preserve district taxes, $18,629.67; fire protection district taxes, $12,409.14; township library taxes and airport taxes, $5,820.81; and mosquito abatement district taxes, $2,410.88. Taxes paid in DuPage county are $73,369.74.

ACCORDING to compilations by F. J. Klein, land and tax commissioner of the railway company, Cook county will receive the largest amount of the tax payment to the twenty-four counties. The Cook county total is $1,434,138.66 of which more than half or $776,006.22, constitutes taxes on property within the city of Chicago.

Few Cattle Coming Into U.S From Mexico

"Imports of Mexican cattle into the U. S. are lagging as officials study export duties," reports National Live Stock Producer, the nation's leading live stock magazine.

"When the ban was lifted last September 1, for the first time since 1946, USDA estimated that some 500,000 head of cattle would be imported into the U.S. in the 12 months following.

"As of September 29, few, if any, cattle have crossed the border to resume the normal trading practices that existed prior to 1946 when foot-and-mouth-disease was discovered in Mexico.

"ONE PRINCIPAL reason," son," asserts the magazine, "is that per capita meat consumption in Mexico is 40 pounds of which 30 pounds are beef and some 2.6 million head of cattle are required annually to meet domestic consumption."

"Unconfirmed reports indicate the Mexican government plans to levy a tax of from 60 to 111 pesos per head on live cattle for export. In American money that amounts to $7 to $13 per head.

"To this must be added the American tariff of 1½c per pound for cattle weighing over 700 pounds, 2½c per pound on cattle weighing 200 to 699 pounds and 1½c per pound for cattle weighing under 200 pounds. Roughly, about $11 per head for 450-pound calves.

"MEXICAN OFFICIALS are also studying duty charges on a per kilo basis rather than a flat per head or per pound charge. This would mean weighing the cattle on the Mexican side at some 14 points of exit. A duty of 40 centavos per kilo or about 2c per pound is contemplated according to some Mexican ranchers who are inquiring about prices of American scales. Other charges such as transportation, dipping, etc. would be added."

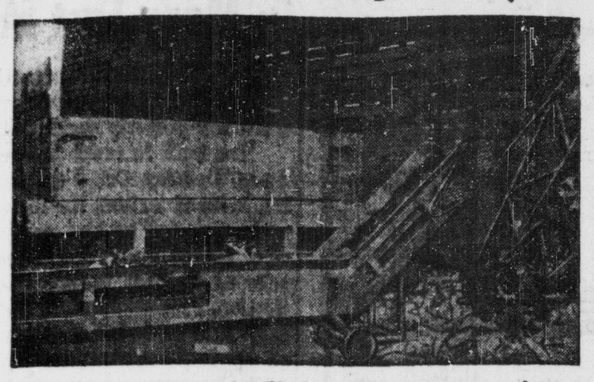

Shorthorn Sale

An event expected to attract cattlemen from all over will be the Millgate invitational Shorthorn sale at George Rosseter's Millgate farms, Wadsworth, Ill., October 6.

The sale will feature four royally bred bulls and 36 females, and is slated for 1:00 p. m.

Grain Handling and Processing Chores Get "College Education

No scooping here—our corn is cribbed by combination conveyor-elevator.

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

It still takes plenty of endurance, but not as much muscle these days to be a good farmer. Something new, however, has been added. It's the ability to be a practical electrical engineer. Today's modern farm operator is the master of dozens of new electrical time and labor savers, and should understand some of the fundamentals of applying electricity to farm chores.

To help farmers put electricity to work effectively in handling farm operations is one of the jobs of the university agricultural engineer. An example of a typical chore which has had a "college education" is grain handling and processing. Here is how the research engineer of a large midwest university says this job can be done on farms with the aid of electric equipment, plus a bit of ingenuity and carpentry work on the part of the farmer:

"A conveyor running through the bottom of the corn bin elevates the ear corn directly into a burr type of grinding mill. The ground ear corn is stored in a hopper of 100 bushel capacity so that it is necessary to grind corn only about once a month for a herd of 24 milk cows. The ear corn grinder is operated by a 7½ horsepower motor, which also can be used to operate the mow hay curing system at hay making time.

"Bran is stored in a hopper with the same capacity as that used for ground ear corn. A smaller hopper is used for storing a mixture of concentrate, salt and minerals.

"Small grains are augered from storage bins to a hammer mill operated with a 2 horsepower motor. Ground oats are blown into a blower mixer and there mixed with concentrates, bran and ground corn which are augered from the various hoppers. The ingredients of the ration become thoroughly mixed in moving through the delivery pipe. The mixed feed is delivered into a V-bottomed portable bin which is equipped with a self-unloading auger."

During a test period, 16 tons of feed were ground and mixed with this arrangement at a cost of 1.2 cents per 100 pounds. This amounts to a cash savings of about 10 cents per 100 pounds as compared to custom grinding, exclusive of additional savings in labor.

Correct Lifting Essential To Farm Safety

Practice correct lifting until it becomes a habit. That's the advice from John W. Matthews, executive secretary of the Illinois rural safety council.

Each year thousands of people become the victims of sprains, strains, hernias and other injuries caused by incorrect lifting, says Matthews.

According to a report from the rural safety council, the most common causes of lifting injuries are 1) lifting and lowering with the back muscles; (2) insecure grip or footing and unsafe placing of hands or feet; (3) quick, jerking, twisting or awkward movements of the body; (4) obstructed vision, unstable loads or inadequate control; (5) insufficient help or failure to use mechanical aids.

YOUR BODY is a mechanical system of levers and hinges moved by cables just like many machines. Nature intended each bone joint and muscle to have a specific purpose. When you overload or use them improperly, you invite injuries.

It is common practice to bend at the waist when reaching down to grasp an object. Lifting in this position places a severe strain on the sensitive back and abdominal muscles. Always bend your knees and keep your back straight when you need to lift.

Examine farm lifting jobs critically. Rearrange your work to eliminate or reduce the amount of lifting. See if you can't use simple and safe mechanical aids, such as rope hoists, wood skids, hand trucks or inexpensive conveyors, to help do the job for you.

State Swine Sale Set For October 6

The second annual "cream of the crop" production-tested swine sale is scheduled for the 4-H fairgrounds at Ottawa Monday, October 6.

Sponsored by the Illinois swine herd improvement association, the state-wide sale will start at 7:30 p. m. CST. Food will be available through the courtesy of the LaSalle county Rural Youth organization.

Purebred boars and purebred, crossbred and grade gilts will be offered for sale, according to W. N. Stevenson, secretary-treasurer of the association. All of them will be cholera immune, free from Bang's disease and inspected for freedom from vesicular exanthema.

Consignees will offer 106 head of swine, 31 boars and 55 gilts. Hampshire, Poland China, Chester White, Yorkshire and Duron purebred breeds will be represented, along with other grade and crossbred animals. Nothing but production-tested stock will be sold.

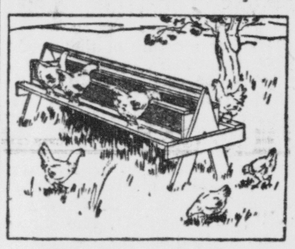

All consigned animals out of gilts must be from litters weighing at least 275 pounds at 56 days. All consigned animals out of sows must be from litters weighing at least 320 pounds at 56 days.

'Peek-Proof' Poultry Feeder

EFFICIENT feeding of the laying flock is as important as providing a properly-balanced ration. To assure maximum egg production, the poultry raiser must provide ample feeding space for the hens. Several portable, sturdy, dry mash feeders are the answer to the feeding problem.

Experience indicates that every 100 hens should have not less than 30 or 32 feet of space at the trough. In a 20' x 20' house containing 100 hens, four reel mash feeders, like the one shown, should be provided. This U-bottom feeder minimizes waste and keeps the feed clean. Feed is readily accessible. With plenty of feeding room, even the non-aggressive hen will get her share.

Reel mash feeders, which get their name from the revolving piece of 1" x 2" lumber mounted on spikes to keep the hens from perching over the trough, are 4' long, 21" high and 16" wide. Recommended for the trough portion is Masonite ⅛" Tempered Presdwood, because of its toughness and durability. A piece 4' long and 1½' wide is needed. Other material required: One piece of 1 by 6 lumber 7¼ feet long, a 1 by 4 of 8-foot length, another that is 7' long, and a 1 by 2 that is a half inch longer than 4'; a half pound each of eight-penny and four-penny nails.

A detailed plan of the U-bottom feeder may be obtained free by writing to Farm Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and asking for Plan No. AFB-183.

Same Treatment Not Effective For All Mastitis

Treating your cow for mastitis without knowing which germ is causing the trouble is like pulling the trigger of a gun with your eyes closed—you're not sure what you'll hit.

Dr. H. S. Bryan of the University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine says many different kinds of germs may cause mastitis in cattle. Some of them are streptococci, staphylocci, corynebacteria and pseudomonads. Evan yeasts are sometimes involved in the disease.

Treating your cow with penecillin preparations will usually get rid of streptococci, the most common cause of mastitis, Dr. Bryan says. But it may not be effective against other udder infections.

FOR BEST results, have a laboratory examination made of the milk from each cow to see which germ is causing the trouble, and then your veterinarian will select the right drug to eliminate the infection. This will save the money you might throw away on expensive drugs, and the disease will be controlled in time to save the cow.

Another thing, don't overlook good sanitation and milking practices. These include washing each cow's udder with a cloth dipped in warm disinfectant before she is milked, milking most cows only three minutes, milking infected cows last and prevently injuries to teats and udders.

Dr. Bryan states, "Drugs, properly used, may get rid of mastitis, but the cows often become reinfected unless you practice good herd management and sanitation.

Gilts Need Good Rations This Fall

The way you feed your spring gilts between now and breeding time may have an effect on next spring's pig crop.

In other words, says G. R. Carlisle, extension livestock specialist at the Illinois college of agriculture, you need sound, healthy gilts to produce sound, healthy pigs.

Here are some steps Carlisle suggests for gilts which are to raise the 1953 spring pig crops:

1. KEEP THE GILTS on legume pasture as long as you can.
2. Give them plenty of minerals either free choice or mixed in the protein supplement.
3. Feed a balanced ration. For example: (a) ground oats and protein supplement free choice or (b) corn at the rate of 6 pounds a head each day plus ½ to ⅔ pound of protein supplement a head each day.
4. This is a suggested protein supplement to use: 100 pounds each of meat scraps or tankage, soybean meal and alfalfa meal and 5 pounds each of salt and steamed bone meal. Or you can use a good, commercial, ready-mixed supplement.

Carlisle recommends using alfalfa meal when your pastures get short at this time of year. Alfalfa provides good insurance for valuable minerals and vitamin needs.

Water Means Ink To This Pen At Any Time

A pen writes with ink whenever you fill it with water. It contains a tablet of ink concentrate, and each filling with water dissolves only enough of the tablet to provide a proper ink supply. Result: You never run out of ink, wherever you are. The concentrate is said to last about 18 months and can then be replaced.

"ENJOY IT WHILE YOU CAN, THERE IS NOT MUCH SOIL LEFT ON THIS FARM."

Erosion can take place where least expected. Arnold Brockman, director of the North Cook county soil conservation district said that top soil had been washed off the "nearly level" land and over the road near his place last spring.

His comments were don't fall plow unless you absolutely have to, then use a cover crop. If you cut corn for silage don't leave the bare ground exposed to the elements, seed a cover crop of balboa rye or clover during the last cultivation.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. What do you think of the present-day chivalry of men who keep their seats in the bus or street car when women are standing?

A. Whether I think well of it or not, present-day rules of decorum do not require a man to give up his seat to a woman whom he does not know. However, if a very old woman, or a young one carrying a baby enters the car, a gentleman will not hesitate to offer his seat.

Q. When a young woman is seated at a table in a public dining room and another woman stops at her table to chat for a minute, should the young woman rise?

A. Not unless the woman who stops is elderly.

Q. Is it correct for a man to use the double-sheet type of stationery for his personal correspondence?

A. This is all right, but men usually prefer the single sheet variety.

Q. Is it still customary to put small favors in the wedding cake?

A. Yes, usually in the top tier of the cake. The caterer should mark the sides plainly so that no man will get the tiny thimble which is for an old maid and no bridesmaid will get the button which is for the bachelor. Be sure there is a wish-bone for a big wish, a wedding ring for the girl who will next be married, a tiny airplane for the man who will travel. and a pair of dice for luck, and so forth.

Q. Should a girl smoke her own cigarettes when going out on a date, or should she smoke her escort's?

A. Either way is correct, although the man is usually expected to furnish the cigarettes.

Q. Is the year usually given when dating a social letter?

A. No.

Q. Does modern society require that a man merely touch the brim of his hat when speaking to a woman?

A. This is quite commonly done, and by men of seemingly good manners—but it still has the appearace of a half-hearted greeting. Any man of really good breeding will lift his hat, not just touch it.

Q. If a girl is the house guest of another girl, is it all right for her to accept a social invitation if her hostess is not included?

A. It is all right if she has first consulted her hostess and found that it does not conflict with any plans she may have already made.

Q. Is it all right for a man to ask his bride-elect to help him select her wedding ring?

A. This is not only perfectly proper, but it is quite popularly done.

Q. If olives and celery are to be served, when is the proper time to pass them around the table?

A. During the soup course.

Lessons In . . . . English

by W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "We ate most all the fruit." Say, "almost all"; most in this sense is dialectal.

Do not say, "They planned on staying for a week." Say, "They planned to stay for a week."

Distinguish between "sociable" and "social." "Sociable" is used of individual persons, in the sense of friendly, liking companions; as, "a very sociable neighbor." "Social' means relating to organized society; as, "social welfare."

Do not say, "You live in such a beautiful home." It is better to say, "You live in so beautiful a home."

Do not say, "He can illy afford to buy the house." Say, "He can ill afford."

Do not say, "I have no doubt but he will go." Say, "I have no doubt that he will go."

Words Often Mispronounced

Apparatus. Pronounce third a as in ray, not as in rat, and accent third syllable.

Foci (plural of focus). Pronounce fo-si, o as in no, i as in sigh, accent first syllable.

Aloha (Hawaiian salutation). Pronounce a-lo-ha, both a's as in ah, o as in low, accent second syllable.

Atabrine. Pronounce at-a-bren, first a as in at, second a unstressed, i as in breed, accent first syllable.

Magazine. Principal accent is on last syllable, not the first.

Abjectly. Accent first syllable, not the second.

Words Often Misspelled

(Preservation, pre; perspiration, per. Capital (city); capitol (state house). Unanimous; observe the i: Compromise, ise; colonize, ize. Metallurgist; observe the two l's. Dahlia; observe the h.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Indefectible; not liable to defect, failure, or decay. "They lived in a state of indefectible happiness."

Palpable; easily perceptible; obvious. "Here are some palpable errors."

Meditative; disposed to think closely and seriously. "He was in a meditative mood."

Repugnant; distasteful in a high degree; offensive. "All rudeness was repugnant to her nature."

Emancipation; act of process of freeing; liberation. "We need emancipation from certain old-fashioned customs."

Sedative (noun); a remedy which allays irritability and irritation. "The medicine was a sedative, and her sleep was unbroken."

First Steam

Jonathan Hulls, an Englishman, built the first steam propelled vessel in 1706.

Better Grasses For Lawns Have Been Developed

A widely-adapted bluegrass called Merion is among those that may make your yard problem less difficult. It was released by the USDA and the U.S. golf association green section after 12 years of testing.

"Merion is rated markedly superior to ordinary commercial bluegrass. It resists several serious bluegrass maladies, is low-growing and dense, needs less mowing and can stand clipping better than common bluegrass. It spreads rapidly, resists heat and is more capable of fighting crabgrass and other weed invasions.

MERION CAN thrive in partial shade and produces a good yield of strong and plump seed that can be distinguished easily from seed of common bluegrass. At Pennsylvania Experiment Station H. B. Musser produced excellent turf with good-quality seed of Merion at rates of 1 to 2 pounds per square 1,000 feet. Merion can be grown throughout the range of Kentucky bluegrass, either alone or as part of lawn mixtures.

One of the most amazing of the newcomers is Zoysia japonica. It will spread so rapidly that you can put 1 plant in the center of a 2x2 foot square in spring and it will fill the entire area by fall. It comes from Korea and Manchuria and there seems to be no limit to the amount of cold it can take. It can be clipped as short as half an inch and still make a satisfactory turf.

Two new fescues that look unusually good to USDA turf men are Illahee and Penn State. Both seem to need a little more water and a little more fertilizer than we have given fescues in the past.

Fire Fighting Show At Glenview Air Station

More than twenty-five fire departments of Chicagoland will be present at naval air station, Glenview, Sunday, October 5.

Each year the NAS Fire Department instructs local fire department chiefs, members and their families on the latest, most up to date methods of fighting aircraft and gasoline fires and the proper and safe way to rescue occupants of the aircraft.

Fire Chief W. J. MacKenzie of the station fire department has announced that, beginning at 10 a. m. on October 5, members of his department will simulate an actual crash and burning of an aircraft and will then demonstrate proper methods of using chemical foam, carbon dioxide and water fox extinguishers. Men wearing asbestos and other forms of protection will dash through a path cleared to the wreckage by the extinguishers and show participating fire departments the proper methods of rescue with a minimum of danger to occupants and rescuers.

In addition to these demonstrations there will be displays and exhibits of fire fighting apparatus, trucks, oxygen breathing gear and artificial respiration. Members of visiting companies who wish to take part in the actual bringing under control of the fire and rescues may do so.

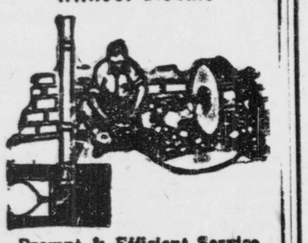

The naval air station will also take part, with trucks and apparatus in a parade of northern communities beginning at 1 p. m. on Thursday, October 9.

New Hours For Museum

The Museum of Science and Industry, 57th and Lake Michigan, is now open each day at 9:30 a. m. Closing hours Monday through Friday will be 4:00 p. m.; Saturdays at 5:30 p. m.; and Sundays and holidays at 7 p. m.

Admission to the museum is free at all times.

Firemen Ask Public To Observe Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-11

Fire Prevention Week, October 5 through 11 is being stressed by the local fire departments, 12 of which are cooperating in a message to the farmers and urban residents of the territory served by Paddock Publications.

Their purpose is to direct public attention to the tremendous loss of life and property that results each year from fire and to emphasize the safety measures whereby these losses can be substantially reduced.

Safety to life and property is a matter of individual responsibility—the responsibility of each of us working together the year around in the community and in the nation.

Your firemen, the men who answer your call, are asking you to assume your share of this responsibility and thereby make your community safe from fire.

County Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Prospect Heights is joining the local fire departments in this campaign for better fire protection. This company is especially interested in fire preventive measures on the farms and gives these suggestions:

Remember first that a clean garage and barn is essential for fire safety.

Once your garage or barn gets cluttered, it's likely to have several fairly dangerous fire hazards. Here are some of them:

1. Gasoline. It should never be used for any purpose around the house. Don't use it for cleaning. It gives off explosive vapors at all times. If you must keep a small quantity on hand for power tractors, mowers and outboard motors, keep it in approved safety cans.
2. Paint. Be sure to cover the cans tightly and place the paint away from any heating device.
3. Oil drippings. Clean up oil drippings promptly.
4. Wiring. Be sure to call in an experienced electrician to extend your wiring. Home handy men have caused many fires.

If your garage is attached to your home, always keep the door between the garage and house closed, to slow down the spread of fire and to prevent passage of vapors from garage to house.

Inspect Your Own Premises

Fire Prevention Week is being observed in some communities by the members of fire departments who inspect the business areas for fire hazards. It is impossible for them to visit every home. It is to the interest of every individual home owner to do such a job. Here are a few suggestions:

In the last ten years matches and smoking caused 27% of all fires reported to the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Although they look harmless they are the nation's number one hazard, they cause one-third of all of our fires.

What should you do about it?

SHOULD YOU give up smoking? that is not necessary. But you should keep in mind that a smoldering cigarette can destroy your home just as surely as a stick of dynamite. Put out cigars, cigarettes and matches before they put you out.

The two most dangerous spots in your home are the kitchen and basement. Thousands of fires get started in these two spots each month. Why not just remove the danger from these spots.

THE BASEMENT is the nerve center of your house—and the spot where one-third of all home fires start. Once a fire begins there, it may be difficult for firemen to control it if there are stacks of old magazines, papers, furniture, old rugs, paint and other combustibles for it to feed on.

A clean basement is essential to a fire-safe home.

After clearing out accumulated rubbish, you'll want to check these other potential fire hazards:

The furnace is dangerous when dirty. Have it cleaned regularly.

Don't put off necessary repairs to furnace or smoke-pipes.

Don't leave rubbish or kindling near the furnace. They might ignite from the radiated heat.

CHECK TO SEE if the ceiling and walls near the furnace feel hot to your hand.

When the repairman comes, ask him to examine the entire heating system for any needed repairs.

Provide covered metal cans for ashes. Never place them in wooden or paper boxes.

Have your floor furnace checked by an expert repairman at least once a year.

TO PREVENT those mysterious fires cause by "spontaneous ignition," avoid putting oily rags or cloths saturated with furniture polish, paints, or wax in closed closets or cupboards. Instead, get rid of ones which you will not need again, and keep the others in closed metal containers. Keep your waxers and floor mops in cool open spots, such as the porch.

Flimsy curtains. Don't let them blow over flames, ash trays, light bulks. When buying curtains, you might consider the fire-proof ones made of spun glass.

Place a metal screen in front of the fireplace to prevent the fires which might be caused by a flying spark. Have your chimney cleaned and inspected periodically.

Check your lamp cords and extension cords. If they appear worn or broken, replace them with new cords bearing the Underwriters' Laboratories tag.

Be sure electric circuits are not overloaded. Don't plug too many appliances, such as grills or waffle irons into one circuit.

DON'T STRING electric cords or wires around the bedroom. Never run cords under rugs or over nails, because that causes them to wear out.

If you use a portable oil or gas heater in the bedroom, turn it out before going to bed. Many people have been suffocated because they used unvented oil or gas heaters in tightly closed rooms.

Do not place portable heaters where they can be overturned easily.

Do not use lighted matches to search in dark closets. Use a flash-light.

ONE THING to keep in mind is that water and electricity are a dangerous combination. That's why it's unwise to have a radio in the bathroom. Never touch an electrical appliance while you're in bath water or touching a water faucet.

The attic can be made fire-safe rather quickly.

Take a look at those old clothes, broken toys, discarded pieces of furniture, and stacks of magazines you've accumulated up there.

Those things make it easy for a fire to get started—and they feed it once it's under way.

Clear out your attic — and you'll have a safer home.

Firemen Ask Ban On Common Grass Fires

Grass fires are the ban of all firemen. They are so unnecessary. They take firemen away from their regular work and often they are called when there is no real danger to a building. Here is a special message in which all of the fire companies in this area join:

In addition to every day hazards, there are some fire hazards which are more prevalent at certain times of the year such as spring and fall, when everyone is burning leaves, trash and rubbish outdoors. If you must burn outdoors, be sure the fire is on your property, in an incinerator or other proper receptacle. Never leave outdoor fires unattended.

Never start an outdoor fire on a windy day.

Don't start a fire near a building or fence.

Keep children away from bonfires and other open fires.

After putting out any outdoor fire, stay around until ashes are cool enough to test with your bare hands.

Your firemen are ready night and day to come to your rescue, but they do not like grass fires. Don't cause them. They did not sign up as firemen to extinguish such fires.

THE NEXT TIME IT MAY BE YOUR HOUSE!

It isn't always the other fellow's house that goes up in flames. The next fire may be right in your own home. Don't let this happen to you. Remember that common sense is one of the strongest weapons in preventing fires.

Don't smoke in bed . . . Clean out that attic full of rubbish . . . Be careful with electrical appliances and don't overload the wiring system.

Twelve thousand people are killed by fire every year . . . Don't you be one of them.

Proposed Changes In Revenue Amendment Before Voters Nov. 4

This is the second of four articles dealing with the proposed amendment to the state constitution. The amendments are being advanced by many civic bodies.

However, individuals and other groups think that it would give to the state legislature too big a blank check. Read the articles appearing in this department and you can make your own decision.

In Favor ...

The most important revisions of Article IX of the Illinois Constitution in the proposed amendment to be voted in the November 4th election are in Sections 1 and 2.

Section 1 would, as revised, permit "classification" of property.

The Constitution now requires all property—real or personal, tangible or intangible, a farm or a bond—to be assessed at its full value and taxed at the same rate. If this were enforced, which it is not, taxation of such personal property as stocks or bank accounts might well be confiscatory; thus, the burden falls upon real estate which can actually be seen and so assessed.

Classification, as proposed, would permit the General Assembly to define different tax rates for different kinds of property.

Classification is permitted directly or indirectly in 39 states. In fact, the first two sentences of proposed Section 1 were modeled on similar provisions of the new Missouri constitution. In a majority of states where classification has been in use, a low tax rate on the intangibles (that property the assessor can't see) has brought them out of hiding and onto the assessor's rolls where they have borne a greater share of the tax burden, to that extent reducing the burden upon real estate.

The second sentence of proposed Section 1 states that real estate shall constitute one class in such a classification "except that lands used for forestry purposes and mineral rights in land may be classified separately."

Such classification for forestry purposes is permitted in many states with a two-fold hope: 1, that land planted to trees, instead of an annual wheat crop, will be taxed at a lesser rate than that used for other crops to encourage a longer growing period for the trees; and 2, more widespread tree planting. In short, it is a conservation measure.

The last sentence of proposed Section 1 permits the General Assembly to adopt other yardsticks of taxable property than straight valuation as is now required.

Section 2 of the proposed amendment will be discussed next week.

Against ...

James L. Donnelly, executive vice-president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, informed the IMA board of directors today that much misunderstanding exists in the minds of the public throughout Illinois regarding the proposed Revenue Amendment which voters are urged to approve at the November election.

In reporting to the Board of Directors, Mr. Donnelly stated: "Upon request, members of the IMA staff have discussed the proposed changes in the tax collection program of the State of Illinois with many groups of voters, and find that voters' questions and statements indicate that the public does not realize that:

1. Since the Illinois Supreme Court has held that the present Constitution prohibits a graduated income tax, it is not logical to say that the proposed Amendment should be adopted because of its provision against the imposition of a graduated income tax because such protection is already afforded the public under the present Constitution.

2. Approval of the Amendment by the public would make possible the imposition of many new types of taxes.

3. Among the new types of taxes could be a tax on income, such as a payroll tax; tax on income from rentals of property; tax on interest on savings accounts; tax on income from stocks, bonds and mortgages; tax on checking accounts; tax on funds in savings accounts; etc.

4. Under the Amendment, authority would be granted the General Assembly to impose what are called "reasonable" taxes, with the decision as to what the word 'reasonable' means being left to the General Assembly and the Supreme Court."

Mr. Donnelly further stated that, "While the present taxation program is admittedly not perfect, no one can even guess what sort of a new taxation program will be devised if the Amendment is adopted; that it is asking too much of the public to abandon the present Constitutional safeguards against excessive taxation and plunge into the unknown."

Traffic Hazard

I have wanted to write a letter to the Fence Post for a long time regarding Scarsdale children playing in the streets. The statements made by Scarsdale residents at the public hearing (re: Shopping Center) held at the Arlington Heights village hall Thursday night ignited the fire kindling inside me regarding this matter.

What makes these people think that, because they have purchased a home in an area which has no sidewalks, their children are free to play in the streets? What makes them think that because they live on a dead end street it is perfectly safe to let their children use that street for a play area?

Scarsdale streets are not private thoroughfares, but public property for the use of automobiles, as is every other street in the village. One of the first safety rules children should be taught as soon as they learn to walk is "Do not play in the street!"

Residents of Scarsdale knew before they purchased homes there were no sidewalks. One spokesman at the meeting even said one of the reasons he bought his property was because the man selling it stated the streets were so safe his 18 month old child could play in them without a care in the world. A mother said their home was located on a dead end street and "really, it makes a wonderful playground for the children."

I don't think there has been a time I have driven through Scarsdale, and the times have been numerous, that there hasn't been some group of children playing in the streets. I've seen them sitting in the middle of the road digging tar out of the cracks, riding their tricycles, wheeling doll buggies, roller skating, all over the street. Many times parents are out in the front yard, see their children in the streets and never utter a word for them to get off, not even when cars are trying to get through.

Sure, kids have a right to use their skates, trikes, buggies and what not, but not in the streets. Parents should have taken the matter of no sidewalks into consideration before buying in such an area. Instead, from remarks made by more than half of the 12 spokesmen heard, they bought their homes with the idea the street would serve as a substitute for sidewalks.

Whether or not a shopping center is allowed to locate in that area is immaterial to me, but in my opinion, I feel the opposition has not a leg to stand on when they say it will create a traffic hazard for their children. Teach those children not to play in the streets and the possibility of a traffic hazard would be practically nil.

Safety Conscious,
Arlington Heights.

Blood Needed

For the past year, newspapers throughout the country have contributed outstandingly to the armed forces blood donor program, and the success of that campaign is due in no small measure to their generous support. The 3,000,000 pints of blood which they helped to collect for the armed forces have saved the lives of many of our fighting men.

The total blood needs are great: blood is needed for current use by the armed forces; it is needed to fill the immediate requirements of civilians; and above and beyond these daily needs, there must be blood for a national plasma reserve ready for use in any emergency, civilian or military, which might arise. To fill all of these important and continuing needs, the national blood program must have your support in persuading the American people to become regular blood donors.

Paul Gaynor, Coordinator National Blood Program.

Just Around The Corner

from PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

How good it was to see Jack, Bob's next younger brother, again, and what interesting experiences he has had since he was last home on leave. Although the navy does not provide "first class" passage, it does offer the opportunity for many boys to see foreign countries which they might never visit, if they had to make the trip at their own expense.

It seemed difficult to believe, as we sat in the living room listening to him, that Jack had actually been in Hawaii, the Philippines, China, Japan and twenty-five miles off the coast of Korea.

From what Jack told us, Hawaii was everything that the post cards picture it to be—lavender and green mountains, pure white sand beaches, sturdy green and tan palm trees and cities (especially Honolulu) that seemed to have grown all skyward, leaving narrow, little streets to wriggle their way between the tall buildings.

THERE WAS LITTLE CHANCE to see much when Jack's ship arrived in Manila, due to the fact that so much of the area was restricted. It must be very unpleasant to live in a place, such as this, mostly behind barricaded walls, always fearful of bandits or guerillas.

Only a few Oriental words were necessary for one to know, to be able to deal successfully with the Chinese and Japanese merchants (the most important ones being "how much?" and "that's too much"!). Consequently, Jack had no trouble, while in Hong Kong, purchasing the handsome, black, heavily brocaded smoking jacket for Bob.

The standard of living in this city is extremely low and the general appearance of the people one of malnutrition. A poor, emaciated mother, bearing a splotchy-faced, undernourished child "papoose fashion" on her back, came up to Jack begging for money. When he gave her, what in American money amounted to about fifty cents, the stream of appreciative words made it evident that it had been a long time since she had seen so much money all at once! At our inquiry of evidences of Communism in Hong Kong, Jack told us they were apparent only in, again, the tight restrictions as to area and the rigidly enforced sundown curfew.

IN JAPAN, Jack had an opportunity to visit in a Japanese home. After making many purchases, among them a scarlet, quilted satin jacket for Megan, crimson and black, satin pajamas for me, a soft pure silk, flower-laden kimona for "Mother" and an ivory chess set for Papa, Jack became friends with the young merchant, and a party was planned. Jack insisted on bringing American ice cream and a favorite Japanese wine, both considered most desirable delicacies.

I'm not so sure but what the Japanese have the right idea about both interior designing and housekeeping. One large room, located behind the store, was the dwelling for the mother, the son, and the son's wife. Upon entering the room, it was necessary to remove your shoes, because the rice mats covering the floor were used for both sitting and sleeping. At mealtime a large pot of some steaming mixture was brought out, then each person would pull up a rice mat and sit down near it to eat. When the meal was finished, each person would wash his own bowl and chop-sticks, and they would be placed behind a screen, in one corner of the room. At night, mats resembling bed rolls were put on top of the rice mats, and all would sleep side by side.

JACK'S MERCHANT FRIEND was a graduate of the University of Tokyo and considered a well-to-do shop-keeper. His average monthly earnings amounted to about fifty dollars in American money!

It was through the merchant that Jack found the lantern-maker. His quest led him through narrow, winding streets, hemmed in on either side by tiny shop after shop displaying wares of every description. At last he found the little, old man and his wife who, with a small group of workers, made the black, lacquered wood and oiled paper lanterns.

Indeed, what a small place this world we live in is, when an aging, bent-over lantern-maker, living in a tiny country on the other side of the globe, fashions a lantern which will find its final home in a little, frame country house — just outside of Harvard, Illinois, U. S. A.!

My love,
Patty.

TALES of the STREET

—T. C. HART

● THE POT BOILS

The political pot has been boiling in great shape lately, largely because of some amateurish actions of some novice politicians who had never before been in a campaign and didn't know what it was all about or how to act.

When chairman Mitchell of the Democratic national committee, who is Stevenson's hand picked boy, heard about the historic Nixon fund, he blew off and demanded that Nixon get off the Republican ticket. Now, if Mitchell had only talked with his boss (Stevenson), he would have been told to keep quiet as Mr. Stevenson himself also had a few funds and he is a wise enough politician to know that if you are in a glass house yourself, you hadn't ought to throw rocks at the other fellow.

But Mr. Mitchell blew off and caused a boomerang on his own candidate, all out of proportion to the gravity of the situation. Anyone in politics knows that there are campaign funds and that the use of such things is not limited to one party.

If an old timer like Jake Arvey had been handling the Stevenson campaign, as he should have been after all he did for Stevenson at the convention, all this would never have happened. Mr. Arvey is an astute and experienced politician and would have known that to holler about the other fellow's campaign funds would only call attention to your own. But Mr. Mitchell, the babe in the woods novice, had to start throwing rocks with the result that they came smashing back through his own windows.

The whole thing has caused publicity all out of proportion to its importance in the campaign and now that everybody has published their statements, named names, and given figures, maybe the boys can get down to the serious business of running for office and letting the people know where they really stand.

Another interesting sidelight on the progress of the campaign is the fact that when the Taft forces started coming through the door of the Eisenhower camp, a lot of the left wingers and Broadway patriots began jumping out of the window which is all to the good for the Republican party and for America.

Now that Eisenhower has started to put some of Taft's ideas into his speeches, he stands a chance of going somewhere. As long as he stuck to the "me too" jabber of the Dewey-Lodge gang, he was headed nowhere fast and by the way, we aren't hearing much of Tom Dewey lately, and as for Senator Lodge, he is having one heck of a time getting himself re-elected as senator without sticking his neck into the presidential race.

Yes, Eisenhower is changing his tune and is sounding more like a Republican. Maybe Taft, Nixon, McCarthy and some more of the boys can make one out of him yet and steer him into the presidency. If he gets there, it will be their doing and not the work of the clique that hornswagled him into the nomination for their own selfish interests and personal gain.

● FALL IS HERE

Fall is officially here and what a wonderful one it has started out to be. The mid-September frosts predicted by the katydids came along about on time according to the boys out in the country, but they weren't strong enough to do any damage and we go into October without having had a killing frost.

After a lot of rain in the spring and early summer, we have run into a dry spell which has really dried things up and the farmers are hoping for some fall rains in order to do their late plowing which has been slowed up by the hard dry ground. The corn crop is more generally matured this fall than for some years and there are some wonderful fields of corn in this area and there are going to be some great yields per acre when the crop is harvested.

● FOLIAGE

It looked for awhile as if the foliage was going to dry up and not have the usual blaze of color this fall because of the dry weather. When the leaves began to turn, they were a dull dry looking brown that didn't give promise of much coloring and then all of a sudden, overnight, those drab looking trees were a blaze of reds and yellows. It was a most startling change in a few hours and the brilliant hues of some of those drab looking trees of a few days previous were really something to see.

There will be a week or two of this bursting glory of color and then the leaves will begin to fall in earnest and we'll know that old man winter himself is on the way.

● FOOTBALL

The fall season brings on the football season and as Fred Rogers, president of the Palatine National Bank says, "The only thing I've got against the football season is that winter comes roaring along right behind it."

But anyhow, the football season is on and already old man "rabbits foot," Dick Welty, the coach of the Palatine high school and the greatest worrier in the world, has had enough luck for a whole season. In the opening game his boys tied Warren in the last seconds of play. Last year they won over Warren in the last thirty seconds. His team nosed out Bensenville 14 to 13 in a lucky win where the team played real football for a part of the third quarter but won anyhow.

In both the Warren and Bensenville games, the other teams scored what would have been the winning touchdowns only to have the score nullified by an offside penalty.

Now that's about enough luck for awhile; it looks as if the rest of the way games will have to be on the merits of the play and evidently sensing that, old "Rabbits Foot" and his boys really turned on the gas last Friday nigth when they defeated Antioch 18 to 6.

The team c look like the same outfit. played heads up ball and tackling was the best a Palatine team has shown in a long, long time.

Off to a good start, although part of that start was due to a lot of luck, the outfit looks to have a good chance for the flag if they keep up the sort of game they played against Antioch and if "the great worrier's" outfit isn't pestered by too many injuries.

● SPORTSMANSHIP???

We've always thought that one of the reasons for football was to teach sportsmanship to the boys and give them a groundwork for fair fighting in the battles of life. At least that used to be the fundamentals stressed by such great coaches of the past as Stagg of Chicago, Yost of Michigan, Zuppke of Illinois and a host of others who were the idols of their players in the old days.

What does sportsmanship mean to some of the coaches of today, we wondered one night when we saw a high school coach in action. One of the players of the opposing team was lying on the ground injured, his team mates gathered around him when this coach, standing in front of his players' bench, shouted to the team on the field "get tough," "knock 'em all out."

Just where does sportsmanship come in in an act like that? Just what do you suppose that injured player's parents in the stands thought of that brand of sportsmanship? This was a football game supposedly with a friendly school, not the trenches of Korea and the opposition Chinese communists.

Some schools might be more particular in the selection of their coaching staffs if the real meaning of high school athletics is to teach, real sportsmanship and the preparation for manhood and not the tactics of some hoodlum prize fight.

A real coach should be able to inspire his boys to clean hard play without urging them to "get tough" and "knock 'em all out" while one of the opponents lies injured on the field.

The Extinction Of a Species

Bensenville, Ill.

The Heath Hen

There is little information on this bird. Authorities on the subject disagree as to the existence of it, but it is most probably extinct.

The Heath Hen was common in suitable localities (dry sandy plains supporting low pines and scrub oaks) until after 1800. Between then and 1869, it apparently was exterminated from the mainland. Only by special protection did it remain on the island of Marthas Vineyard. There it dwindled in numbers until 1906. Then came fire, the Arch-enemy of man and nature alike. The number of birds was reduced to less than fifty.

From this point on, one must draw his own conclusions. Edward Howe Forbush; in "Birds of America," states that by 1916 the population of Heath Hens on Marthas Vineyard had been built up to between five hundred and one thousand. He predicted that with careful conservation the birds might once again live in their former habitat.

Alexander Westmore, in the National Geographic "Book of Birds," states that the last Heath Hen was destroyed in 1931.

Right here on George Street Wildlife Preserve, the Prairie Chicken, a close relative of the Heath Hen, is believed to have been sighted.

And here again prairie fires, set by the hand of man, threaten this rare bird.

A bird of this sort also needs shelter in the winter. To build such shelters, the contributions of the readers of this column are vitally needed.

Send them to Ralph Peters, George st., Rt. 1, Box 121, Bensenville, Ill.

The Great Auk, the Labrador Duck, the Passenger Pigeon, and the Heath Hen have all represented failure in our conservation efforts.

The stories in this column will now turn to such birds as the Band Tailed Pigeon, the Egret, the Great White Heron, and the Prairie Chicken. Most of these birds represent success rather than failure. These birds are still rare, but they have been saved from extermination. There are a few, however, that are still in grave danger, if present conservation laws are not heeded and if new and stricter ones are not made.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Have you ever met a person who makes you feel so humble and humiliated that you could crawl in a hole and pull it in after you? The sort of person who has a gift for gab, and who loves to talk about himself, what he does and has done, how important he is, and who by his condescending manner increased your inferiority complex almost beyond endurance?

Well, years ago I found a means of combating such deflating tactics which have helped me immensely.

WHEN SUCH a person turns loose on me, I promptly shut my ears to his words and my mind to attending him. I simply sit with an air of rapt hero worship, and start thinking about things which interest me. When he has talked until there is nothing more to say, when he has purged himself of all his inner compulsion to convince me of his superiority, then I enter the conversation. Such a person is bound to run out of things to say sooner or later.

Of course if his problem does not confront you in your own home or in the home of a friend, if you are at a party or club meeting it is a simple matter to see someone across the room with whom you have to discuss something, and because you and he seldom get together, you had better talk the matter over right away.

BUT SOMETIMES I like to listen to a person with an ego complex. I know a man who manufactures diving equipment to whom I could listen for hours, because he also has something interesting and new, something educational to listen to. Another friend, interested in wearing apparel, can easily be led to talk about the source of the material, its method of manufacture, and the problems of distribution—in fact anything connected with wearing apparel, whenever he starts to talk too much about his greatness as a clothing salesman.

Men with great egos can often furnish you with an entire evening's entertainment, if you lead them to display their superiority by talking about their business instead of their exploits.

How to handle a bore would be a good title for an article and, written by an expert, I am sure that most everyone would be interested in reading it.

In The Future

"Paperhangers" (check forgers in underworld slang) will get a big surprise if they attempt to use ink eradicator on a new kind of check. The eradicator brings out "void" markings on the paper . . . A handy kit for making charts and graphs to illustrate a company's ups and downs in sales, profits and so forth contains plastic board and 28 different pressure sensitive tapes . . . A recently developed, strictly unopinionated electronic instrument measures the visual effectiveness of packages, advertisements, car cards and window displays . . . Electric eyes and a fluorescent material are combined in a new device to test flaws in products on the production line . . . Improved wet sanding is promised by the maker of a new water-proof sandpaper.

Bits O' Business

One of the last holdouts against price increases has capitulated. Pipe cleaners in New York now sell for six cents a bundle instead of five . . . Dutch bulbs sales in America continue to pour dollars into the windmill nation . . . Retail sales this fall are up ten per cent and business should top last year's $25 million . . . The population of this country stands at 157,269,000—an increase of more than 6 million in two years.
